Rescuers Entering Mine Are

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 6.—Eight miners were killed and 33 others escaped uninjured today when an explosion, believed to have been caused by gas, wrecked a mine of the Raleigh-Wyoming Coal Mining Company at Glenn Rogers, W. Va., near here.

Identification of the dead was not immediately established. At 11:30 o'clock this morning, L. T. Putnam, general manager of the company, said all efforts were being pushed toward an attempted rescue of the eight men unaccounted for and that identification of the dead would be delayed.

Rescue Crews At Work

Putnam's statement was believed to indicate that the bodies so far recovered had been mangled by the explosion or burned beyond immediate recognition by fellow workers.

Rescue crews were hastily organized and sent down into the mine, a shaft operation, an attempt to reach the eight missing men.

Those who re-entered the mine were equipped with gas masks.

Reports from Pittsburgh were to the effect that engineers of the United States Bureau of Mines there would await the outcome of rescue attempts by the bureau and scattered all through the West Virginia and Pennsylvania soft coal fields to aid in emergencies.

These men were reported enroute here by automobile but had not arrived shortly before noon.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 6.—Operatives of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, stationed in various West Virginia mining districts, today were ordered to send a mine rescue car as the Glenn Rogers Mine was well equipped to handle rescue operations.

Porbes explained that his bureau and the West Virginia Bureau of Mines have trained crack rescue crews at most of that state's big mines to handle such emergencies.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Weather seems to run in cycles. A year ago at Thanksgiving we had an extremely cold period which was followed by a similar one this year, with almost the same temperatures. January 5 was a warm balmy day, just like Sunday.

Just a year ago today, the new council members were sworn in. Today is a birthday with them.

Pa Newc notes many more local residents have distinctive auto licenses this year than last. Some have the same number, while others have changed to their telephone numbers, or were fortunate enough to get their initials on their plates.

Last year at this time, the New Castle Auto dealers were making plans for their big auto show. Doesn't look like they are going to have one this year.

Local streets got their first good cleaning in a long time with the rains of Sunday and Monday. They looked nice and clean afterwards, too.

Maybe the reason the Youngstown council cut off half their policemen was because they knew the Pennsylvania...

Hundreds Killed In Big Typhoon

Group Of Islands In Philippines, Is Report

(International News Service)
MANILA, Jan. 6.—As reports trickled in over crippled lines of communication it was apparent today that the typhoon which swept over the Visayan group of islands took a heavier toll than at first reported.

Latest available figures disclosed there were one hundred deaths on the island of Cebu and fourteen at Leyte.

The Camotes Islands, near Cebu, were reported to have been devastated by the storm. All houses of light construction were reported to have been razed by the terrific wind.

Shipping was reported hit the heaviest, with many small sail and motor boats swamped by the high seas.

Damage to crops and public works was estimated at $1,000,000.

No word has been received of Dan Barclay, who was enroute to New York in a 47-foot sailing vessel. His craft was said to have been in the path of the typhoon.

A Red Cross unit is being marshaled to go to the stricken area from Manila.

Mother Of Seven-Months Old
Baby Calmly Leads Gang
Of Holdup Men

(International News Service)

MONROE, O., Jan. 6.—A mere slip of a girl, 19 years old and the mother of a seven-month old baby, was held in the Butler county jail today in company with two youthful male companions as the result, police charge, of a frustrated attempt by the trio to hold up the Monroe National Bank yesterday.

The three are Mrs. America Longworth, of Franklin, O.; Noel Craft, 16, and Rex Wireman, 20. The latter two claimed to be from Middletown, Ohio.

Woman Carries Gun

Austin Smith, 38, cashier of the bank, was at his desk yesterday when a young woman, whom he identified as Mrs. Longworth, entered the bank accompanied by another youth.

The girl whipped out a gun as she approached the cashier's desk and demanded money, Smith said. The cashier to gain time, appeared to notice nothing amiss and pretended he could not hear the demand.

Angered, the girl fired once. The bullet "pancaked" against the bullet-proof glass of the cashier's cage. Smith grabbed his own gun from the counter and fired three times. The girl turned and ran through the door to the street followed by the youth.

A sheriff's posse captured Mrs. Longworth and the two men in a secluded clump of woodland only a few miles from Monroe. Police said the girl confessed she had planned the robbery to aid funds for her brother, Albert Higgins, who is facing a robbery charge in Franklin.

Stevenson Hears Mayor On Radio

Says City Is To Be Congratulated For His Most Interesting Talk

Mayor William H. Gillespie today exhibited a letter from Bert E. Stevenson, former resident and now in business at San Juan in which Stevenson says he heard the mayor's radio address, Saturday, December 20.

Stevenson said he desired to congratulate the mayor and the city on the interesting tribute they paid the city over KDKA.

"It might be interesting to you to know that your talk was heard away out here on this little speck in the Atlantic ocean. It came through very clearly and distinctly. We heard every word and to say we got a thrill out of hearing your story of our old home town is just putting it mildly," Stevenson wrote.

He added that "we quite agree with you that New Castle can be justly proud of such citizens as Fred L. Bentz, David S. Pyle, L. B. Round, James M. Smith, Senator G. T. Weingartner and many others mentioned in your talk."

Miss Ida Prielelli of Croton avenue, is reported on the sick list.

Daix Is Winner In Senate Battle Monday Evening

Named In Caucus For President Pro-Tem By Majority Of Two

Legislature Organizes Today
—No Contest In Lower House

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—With preliminary skirmishes now matters of political history, the general assembly of Pennsylvania stood ready to convene today in its 129th session.

The long-discussed battle for possession of the office of president pro tem of the Senate was ended, as was the detail of selecting house officers. The Senate battle ended last night when Republican Senator selected Augustus F. Daix Jr., of Philadelphia, as the choice of the party for president pro tem over Senator William D. Mansfield, of Allegheny, by a vote of 24 to 22.

Election Is Formality

Election of Daix today is a formality. His Democratic opponent, Senator Warren R. Roberts of Bethlehem, will command only four votes in the upper house to pit against the 46 Republican ballots which will be cast for Daix.

Not for many years has a Republican senatorial caucus created the stir in political circles such as that which preceded opening of the 1931 session.

Senator Mansfield, labeled as the choice of governor-elect Gifford Pinchot, was nominated in the caucus by Senator Frank J. Harris of Allegheny, and the nomination was seconded by Senators Clark of Chester and Weingartner of Lawrence.

The nominating speech was brief, confined to pointing out the qualities desirable in Mansfield.

Nomination of Daix was made by Senator Frank E. Baldwin, Potter, and seconded by Senators John J. McClure, Delaware, and William C. Freeman, Lebanon. In his speech Baldwin charged the governor-elect was attempting to relieve the Senate of the responsibility of selecting its president pro tem, and Senator McClure declared he objected to charges that the fight over the post (Continued On Page Two)

How Senators Cast Ballots In Daix Battle

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—The toll-call in the Republican Senate caucus on selection of a candidate for president pro tempore was:

For Mansfield—Apple, Bowers, Buckman, Chapman, Clark, Clipping, Coyne, Daix, Einstein, Harris, Harvey, Heaton, Homsher, Norton, Painter, Pethick, Prince, Quigley, Rial, Sordani, Sprout and Weingartner—22.

For Daix—Armstrong, Aron, Baldwin, Bell, Boyd, Brandt, Ealy, Earnest, Fay, Frazier, Freeman, Gelder, Howell, Hunsicker, Kitts, Kruse, Mansfield, McClure, Parkinson, Salus, Scott, Trainer, Williamson and Woodward—24.

Senator Parkinson caused a mild flurry of excitement in the caucus when he cast his vote for Mansfield, then hastily disclaiming his intention, made plain that he desired to support and vote for Daix.

Pennsy Traffic Is Delayed By Wreck

Two Trainmen Suffer Slight Injuries Near Horseshoe Bend Today

(International News Service)
ALTOONA, Pa., Jan. 6.—Seven fast trains of the Pennsylvania railroad, plying between Pittsburgh and New York, were delayed 20 minutes to two hours today when a west-bound freight train was derailed just east of the horseshoe curve near here.

George H. Barnes, 55, of Gallitzin, conductor on the freight and a read-end flagman were injured, neither seriously.

Two cars and the caboose of the freight jumped the rails and came to rest directly across all four tracks of the main line. Sections of the Eastbound Manhattan limited, Broadway Limited, the Liberty and the Pittsburgher were held West of the wreckage while crews cleared the tracks.

A portion of the division's traffic was deluged over the old Portage branch.

Flotilla Of Italian Seaplanes
Soar Out Over South Atlantic Today

Greatest Air Argosy In History—Twelve Planes
On Perilous Flight

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
ROME, Jan. 6.—General Italo Balbo, Italian Minister of Air, commander of the flotilla of seaplanes flying from Portuguese Guinea to Brazil, reported by radio at 3:00 p. m. G. M. T. (10:00 a. m. E. S. T.) today that all was well with the flight. The message was received at the Air Ministry here.

Communication with European radio stations became difficult as the 12 planes winged their way further westward, and reports from the fleet became less frequent.

Six Pass Island

Rio De Janeiro, Jan. 6.—Six of the 12 Italian seaplanes flying from Portuguese East Africa to Brazil passed over the Island of Fernando Noronha at 1:50 p. m. (11:50 E. S. T.) today, according to wireless reports from the government radio station there.

The message made no mention of having sighted the remaining six planes of the flight, and it was taken for granted here that they had not yet come within sight of the radio station.

ROME, Jan. 6.—The Italian seaplane flotilla under General Italo Balbo at seven A. M. G. M. T. today (3 a. m. eastern standard time), was well over the south Atlantic on its way to Brazil and proceeding "according to schedule."

HOUSE SESSION
CALLED PROMPTLY

(International News Service)
(Special To The News)

At the conclusion of the invocation, Secretary of the Commonwealth James A. Walker presented the returns of the November election for recapitulation by the legislature. The returns were read and approved, and then the roll was called to ascertain the presence of a quorum.

In the Senate, immediately after the invocation, members stood and remained in silence for a short time in memory of the three members of the upper chamber who have died since the last session. They were the late Senators Norman L. Bonbrake, Franklin J. E. Kunkle, Westmoreland and L. C. McCrossin, Philadelphia.

Under a resolution presented by Senator Freeman, Lebanon, no bills or joint resolutions may be presented to the assembly prior to the adjournment.

My Uncle Abner is a lad who knows a lot of things what makes a ballfrog jump so far, and why a robin sings, he knows when wheat should be put in, and how to feed a cow, well, there are things away past him, and one of them I row, is that old chestnut that he pulls, about this time of year, he sits you down beside him, so, and asks you for year ear. Then says my Uncle Abner, well, the winter will be long and snow will be ten inches thick, the wind will be right strong. And then the winter slips around as balmy as can be, which makes me think that Unc is wrong, the weather's thirty six.

You're the JUDGE

Abe Ricks, having done some work for the county in which he lived, received in payment warrants drawn by the clerk for that county on the county treasury. Abe is in need of some clothes for himself and his family and that night he took his whole household to the store and dressed them up in the things they needed, and for payment he transferred the warrants to the merchant from whom he had made the purchases.

About this time the county treasurer noticed that Abe was indebted to the county for taxes and assessments to a total larger than the sum of the warrants. So when the merchant presented the warrants for payment the county refused to pay. The clothing man then sued.

vania officers would ferret out half their crimes.

One of the "Ruths" of public life will be a speaker in New Castle when Ruth Bryan Owen, the famed daughter of a famous father, William Jennings Bryan, comes here to speak on February 5.

From Lutton street, Pa New gazes north—and lo! and behold—he saw a rather skimpy looking tree all dressed up in cans and buckets. The cans and containers were fitted on the tips of the twigs. If old Mother Nature sees what that tree is being used for she certainly would and should feel hurt. But it is a good can holder, Pa News admits!

Well, the woodman didn't spare the East Side community Christmas tree. It was recently chopped down and it's bedraggled, limbered of Yule ornaments, are kissing Mother Earth at the corner of East Washington street and Butler avenue.

We apologize profusely to all young brides in general before we tell you what one in particular did the other day. Pa New is told that the sweet young and innocent thing cooked a fish without cleaning it. Now there is a nice economical Mrs.!

Tripped across a little outcast Christmas tree on Allen street Monday afternoon. Poor thing looked forlorn but quite proud of the wispy tinsel clinging to a limb.

Periodically there occurs an election of officers among the city's volunteer fire companies and the elections when announced will invariably reveal an old name that recalls the glorious days of volunteer firemen and horse-drawn engines and a community turned into fire fighters. Such names as "vigilant," "marshal" and a title like "Captain of Ladders." Those were the days.

And while reminiscing about firemen and fire apparatus, the men at central station are wondering what will become of the old fire bell that is still perched on top of old fire headquarters. Some old timers believe the old bell should be removed and placed where it can once more play a part in the life of the city. It may be used, some say, on an important occasion. At any rate, for sentimental reasons, it should be removed from old headquarters.

Despite a fire that increased their Christmas vacation after Fairview school was damaged by flames a few days before the holiday, 49 enrolled grade pupils of the Neshannock township one-room school house came to class Monday when vacation ended. The township school board found it was necessary to make repairs hurriedly in order to start school on time. The carpenter work was done in record time. Miss Katherine Mayberry is the teacher.

This is a day of days for county fruit growers who flock here today for the sessions of the second annual horticultural and orchard school in the Y. M. C. A. When the meetings end Wednesday many fruit men will have heard several important state fruit

The office of County Agent McCullough is a busy place this season. While there is a lull in farm activity the work of the office in distributing information on farm crops keeps the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association and affiliated bodies active. The work of the granges and farm societies is at the peak at this time.

Along with word of the economic conditions in 1930 comes information that city aldermen did not fare so well in marrying people in the city. In fact the decline has been marked by a low marriage rate. And aldermen are wondering if people here are finding married life so burdensome.

The illness of Assistant Fire Chief Stockman has caused Fire Chief Lynn to work a double shift, day and night, at central fire station.

Winter finds Bradford field barren. The large hangar building is tightly shut and mechanics sometimes tinker with inside motors. Dr. Bradford says the aviation business throughout the country is in a precarious position.

A veritable cosmopolitan group can be found almost any time that a church league game is in progress in the Y. M. C. A. gym. The other night Pa New found representatives of practically every church in the city taking the part of rooters at a game.

Local hill streets, particularly the paved ones, were again pretty slippery this morning, following the snow. Many on the North Hill took the Mercer street route in preference to others, and were rewarded to find that their tires cut through to the ground beneath.

Calendars do not seem quite as plentiful this year as in former years, but most of the old standbys who always put them out are again on deck as usual. Many of those who are distributing calendars are giving them only to their regular patrons.

Ever notice how clean property is kept around railroad freight warehouses? Pa New understands that a careful watch is constantly kept around the shipping rooms as a protection against fire.

Of late Pa New's noticed a number of auto tags from distant states. Seems as if many of them bear plates of the far western states. A Missouri and a Nebraska tag were seen Monday.

The postoffice reports automobile drivers who failed to apply for their licenses before the close of the year, are sending for them now. But no doubt there's plenty of other cars that'll stand idle for some time to come.

Tomorrow, folks, is Christmas—by the Julian calendar anyway. The Greek Catholic and Greek Orthodox churches, which go by it, celebrate the day as we do ours. Especially in the eastern coal mining regions will festivities be elaborate.

Just as we've said, there's Christmas tree after Christmas tree littering the properties here. They ought to be burned and not left discarded until long in February like so many of them are.

Christmas wreaths were removed from the Pennsylvania Power company building this morning.

Young Pa New's clock stopped from lack of energy last night and Pa New set it by guessing. That is a very bad way to set a clock, folks. Arrived at the office at five minutes after seven o'clock, instead of eight o'clock! That was alright, but just as easy as not Pa New might have set the clock too slow, instead of too fast. And that would have been too bad.

STAR LORE

IF PRESSURE WERE RELEASED, EARTH'S INTERIOR WOULD BE HOTTER.

By Arthur D. Carpenter

Eminent Geologists declare the interior of the earth is not molten. But it does not follow that the temperatures in the interior are low. If temperature increases one degree for every hundred feet of descent—it could not continue to maintain that rate of increase beyond a limited number of miles—it is clearly evident that few miles down there is sufficient heat to convert matter into a molten state. But with increase of temperature there is also an increase of pressure from overlying matter that raises the melting point. It requires a much higher temperature to melt a solid when under very high pressure.

ed along the flight route, who reported communication with the planes and assurances that all was well.

On the basis of the 100-mile-per-hour speed the fliers expected to average, they should arrive at the radio contact be more than 600 miles at sea, or nearly a third of the way across.

Perfect Takeoffs

Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, Jan. 6.—Carrying the spectacular air exploits of man a step further, the flotilla of 12 Italian seaplanes commanded by General Italo Balbo, 11 Duce's air minister, was speeding straight across the south Atlantic today in a triangular formation dash for South America.

The four squadrons of double-pon-tooned monoplanes soared out of the harbor here at 2 a. m., the tropic moon shimmering in silvery splendour on their widespread wings. The orchestral drone of motors was punctuated by the cheers of crowds as the machines swept majestically into the night sky, bound for Natal, Brazil, a water jump of some 1,860 miles.

The flotilla has been riding at anchor here for the past two weeks, awaiting a full moon for the hazardous attempt to span the south Atlantic. The fliers face a strong possibility of encountering sudden tropical storms common along the route they are flying.

The latest weather reports indicated that favorable conditions will prevail over the ocean for the first half of the flight, but prospects remained uncertain nearer the Brazilian coast.

Making Progress.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 6.—Radio stations here early today began to intercept messages from the 12 Italian seaplanes speeding to South America, receiving a number of remarkably clear messages from the fliers.

The flotilla, while not stating its position, expected to reach Natal, Brazil, some time tonight.

May Land Tonight.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 6.—Favored by fair weather and clear skies all along the Brazilian coast, the flotilla of Italian seaplanes commanded by General Italo Balbo, flying from Portuguese Guinea to Brazil, was expected to reach Natal about 7 p. m. today (5 p. m. Eastern Standard Time), according to latest advices received here.

The Brazilian government wireless office at Fernando "bronha" reported that the Italian planes answered a wireless call sent out shortly before noon (10 a. m. Eastern Standard Time), and advised that all of the planes were making good progress. They did not give their position, however.

The Fernando Noronha station said the weather in that vicinity was very favorable for the flight.

GO WEST, GIRLS

THE biggest problem in human romance always has been to get the cage where birds were plentiful. An eastern woman raises a lament for the women of New England. In a recent magazine article she writes, "There are not men enough to go around. And so many women in the East are just spare tires."

The social maladjustment of which this writer complains is not due to the birthrate or war or pestilence. It is the age-old interference of the economic urge. The Aryan migration probably left a lot of old maids in Asia and put a lot of bachelors into Europe. The English colonists in America, when they got their tobacco plantations under way and became tired of washing dishes and sleeping in unmade beds, sent back to England for a shipload of eligible young women to become wives.

That westward roaming of the males has continued, as witness the figures furnished by this writer. There are 60,000 native white women in New York who, if they stay at home, haven't a chance to marry. There are 64,000 more women than men in Massachusetts. The greater number of these left-behinds are good old stock New Englanders.

But Texas has 100,000 men who must seek outside the state for wives or remain bachelors. Oklahoma, small as it is, has an excess of 74,000 males. Washington would have to import 47,000 women to provide its surplus men with wives. And Michigan has 77,000 more men than women.

Evidently there is a crying need for some female Horace Greely who, speaking with authority, can advise: "Go West, girls—go West."

RETRIBUTIVE JUSTICE

Hopes of the Democrats for control of the seventy-second congress came tumbling down upon their heads as they learned that the Republican insurgents, whose battles they have been fighting, made dupes of them. They have been betrayed by men in whose treachery they were accomplices.

For more than a year the Democrats in congress permitted the Republican insurgents to lead them, coalesced with them to hinder and embarrass the administration, played into their hands at every turn, thinking that when the time came they could depend upon the loyal co-operation of the insurgents. Only now they see their gullibility and innocence.

When their votes would give the Democrats control of both branches of congress, the Republican insurgents announce that they will vote with the Republicans in the organization of the next congress. For purely selfish reasons they choose to oppose their friends and keep in power the regulars they have heretofore elected to fight. Rather than read themselves out of the Republican party they will vote with the regulars in preserving the Republican majority.

This is good retributive justice. The insurgents are forced to eat crow and the Democrats who attempted to bribe insurgent votes by a defeatist policy find themselves betrayed and empty-handed. The whole turn of events leaves no doubt in the minds of voters that these two self-centered groups have consistently opposed the administration, not because administration policies were wrong, but in the hope of making political out of that opposition.

HOBBIES

Oliver Wendell Holmes said once to a young friend: "I believe that every man must have a hobby that is as different from his regular work as it is possible to be." It is not good for a man to work all the time at one thing," Dr. Holmes put his theory into effect by finding an outside interest in the shape of a carpenter shop, which provided in abundance the diversion and change from his literary and medical labors that he needed.

Roosevelt also was a living exponent of this theory. He spent little time passively, but found his rest in change of occupation and attention to subjects quite outside the field of his main career. He entered upon an African hunting trip with as much vim as he ever exhibited in delivering a political speech, but the one occupation was a rest and relaxation from the other.

Too few people realize the value of this kind of productive rest. Its object is not incessant activity, but the freshening of the faculties by turning them to entirely new activities, and thereby enriching and deepening the individual's interest in the main work.

The main job rarely suffers by the maintenance of a hobby. Instead, it gains in the measure in which the one holds the job profits by the hobby.

AN UNPATRIOTIC PROPOSAL

How foolish and even reprehensible it would be to increase the size of the national House of Representatives! It is already too large for expeditious and efficient work, with its 435 members. Yet the proposal is made in Congress with strong numerical backing that the membership be fixed under the new apportionment at 491. It would mean 56 more salaries, with perquisites, for the taxpayers to provide, more confusion and less effectiveness in legislation and, we understand, costly enlargements of the seating capacity of the hall where the representatives meet—much loss and no gain for the public interest.

The public interest is given no consideration in this proposal. Its advocates frankly admit that the purpose is to save certain states from losing a small percentage of their congressional representation under the apportionment as fixed at present. They demand more jobs than they are entitled to, and that is not at all an edifying position. Congress was made for the country and not the country for Congress. The statesman-like thing to do would be to reduce the size of the House, not to increase it, but we must not expect too much in this old vale of tears and laughter. If the membership is kept as at present, it will be as much of a concession to the public interest as reasonable men hope for.—The Ohio State Journal.

Kids naturally believe in evolution, anyway. They think they're an improvement on the old folks.

The reason some congressmen stand up so well under the strain of public life is they don't meddle in national affairs.

Sun sets tonight 4:47. Sun rises tomorrow 7:25.

During 1930 we thought we had a lot of trouble, but right at the beginning of 1931 the Pennsylvania legislature will get going and maybe there will be a war or something in this grand old commonwealth before corn planting time comes around again.

All of us have some measure of the fool in us. We resent the rules that limit ordinary men. So, although our common sense and reason tell us one thing, our desire to test the rule leads us to do the opposite. Every man is probably wiser than his actions would indicate. "How much am I bid," he said, "for this bright silver dollar?"

"But the crowd was cautious, silent, suspicious. No bids were heard. "How much am I bid," shouted the Indian doctor again. "Come, come, gents! A nickel, a dime?"

"I'll bid a nickel," piped John D. Rockefeller at last.

"Take it out of the dollar," piped the doctor, "hand up your nickel!"

"Take it out of the dollar," piped little John D., "and gimme ninety-five cents change."

A MAN UNDER PRESSURE

Do you want to know what your friend is like . . . in his heart . . . in his real self?

Then watch him Under Pressure. When things have gone against him. When he has a headache. When his work isn't going so well. When his job is slipping away from him. When there's grief in his heart. When his pride is hurt. When his wife's left him. When he's made an ass of himself. When life isn't so rosy.

That's when a man is tested. That's when you learn what he really is—Under Pressure.

I remember fellows who came up toward the front in the war. They talked plenty, some of them. They'd been all around the front, they'd done things, seen everything. And this sector was the quietest they'd ever been in. . . . Then they went out to the front and action started and things got hot and shells started dropping and little gas shells went "boop" and airplanes did their stuff and sharpnel exploded overhead and they were Under Pressure. Well, sometimes a Loud Mouth collapsed and got a terrible toothache or trench fever and had to go back to a hospital, and sometimes a Loud Mouth settled down and showed us that he wasn't all talk and had something on the ball even though he was so loud and garrulous.

You couldn't tell in advance just how a fellow would act in wartime. You had to wait until the pressure of conflict began to bear down on him. Then you knew, unmistakably, then you knew whether he could Stand the Gaff.

And you and your friend and all the rest of us are like those fellows in the war. You can't know them and we can't know ourselves until we are Under Pressure, until the strain begins and we strip away the little pretenses and the cheerful optimism and face trouble and temptation. We find ourselves then and unless we have very accommodating forgetteries, we never lose track again of what we are like—Under Pressure.

It's a useful thing to know—what we're like Under Pressure—more useful than money in the bank. If we know how we act Under Pressure, then we know we have something put by for a rainy day, and it will not fail us.

WHAT JANET ALREADY KNOWS

My goodness, how the minutes fly! How swiftly weeks and months roll by!

How rapidly the scheme of things unfurls!

How soon comes wisdom to our little girls!

Here's little Janet, innocent no more, Already she has learned what money's for.

Just eight years old, and at my side she stands

And with a grip holds out her tiny hands.

And with a twinkle in her lovely eyes

Asks for the stuff that pays for merchandise!

She knows what money's for, and I've learned just how to get it from her dad.

Just eight years old, already she has learned

How easily the head of man is turned!

A kiss or two, a sign, a fond caress, And to her plea the answer will be "yes."

I'll swear it seems from dawn to dusk that she Acquired the gentle art of wheedling me.

Taught by her mother? That I'd never say.

I only know she came to me today, Stood at my side and gave my cheek a peck.

Her mother wanting money acts like that—

Gave me a kiss, and whispered in my ear,

"May Janet have a dollar, daddy dear?"

Divided attention, lack of confidence and courage to carry on are responsible for defeat purpose in many instances.

Lyle Campaign Is Watched As Hope Of Chicago Reform

Judge Who Has Been Successful In Curbing Criminals Becomes National Figure When He Challenges Machine And Gangsters

National attention is attracted to the political battle as Judge John H. Lyle seeks the Republican nomination for Mayor of Chicago. He faces the opposition of Mayor William Hale Thompson, who is a candidate for another term, and also that of Charles V. Barrett. Judge Lyle already has achieved success with professional criminals in Chicago, and his campaign is based on a promise to rid the city of their activities.

"Judge Lyle will be opposed" says the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS, "by politicians within his own party who are accomplished in the art of vote-getting, and his candidacy will be fought by every criminal interest in Chicago. It will require nothing short of a miracle to bring about his nomination. But with the Republican strength divided, there are some who think that such a situation will not be so bad for Judge Lyle, provided he can stir Chicago to the depths with his anti-crime platform and corral enough votes to land him far in the lead. Others think the situation as to division will militate to Thompson's advantage or to the advantage, possibly, of a candidate who would be aggressive against the criminal element, were he to be elected mayor. Any way one looks at it, Judge Lyle has a big task cut out for him. A. J. Cermak, the probable Democratic nominee for mayor is popular with the people and would pull heavily. But Chicago must turn, either to Judge Lyle or to some candidate of equal courage and honesty, if it is to break the alliance between politics and crime."

"His campaign, whether he wins or loses, is sure to focus public attention on glaring evils in the administration of the nation's second city," asserts the CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE, "and it has been one of our expensive follies that public opinion has allowed itself to be distracted from the fact. We have talked vaguely about getting rid of the lawlessness, the only remedy is in a strong and honest mayor. When Judge Lyle says it is ridiculous to assume that all these officers of the law—that is, 98 judges, 1,500 bailiffs, clerks, deputy sheriffs, and attaches of the courts and about 6,000 policemen—cannot suppress and almost totally annihilate the little bands of skulking assassins."

Whether this arch foe of gangsters can get anywhere in the race according to the RAPID CITY DAILY JOURNAL, "is a question only the election can decide. But he's fighting a divided field. He'll be fighting all the power of gangdom, according to every surface indication. He'll be fought by the powerful Thompson machine. If Judge Lyle can win there will be emphasis given to the world and to Chicago gangland that the majority of the people of Chicago want a change."

In not a few reputable quarters, thinks the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE, "there appears to have developed a certain attitude of despair, a reluctant conclusion that organized grafting and racketeering must be endured as inseparable from the life of a modern American metropolis. That paper concludes: 'In the final analysis there is no place to lay the main burden of responsibility other than on the shoulders of the people themselves. The shameful conditions of outlaws, the sinister alliance between crime and politics, and the general disorder which has become all too characteristic of metropolitan life in this country will not end until the law-abiding majority does something more than utter woeful complaints and bemoan its plight. The size of our larger cities does not deprive them of the same machinery of reform that is available to the smallest hamlet in the land. Undoubtedly it is easier to swing ballot boxes and manipulate voting in a metropolis than in a small city, but evil practices of this sort certainly cannot account for Chicago's sufferings. Not all the arts of the political trickster could prevent that great city from electing honest and capable public servants if the people as a whole were willing to take charge of things and perform their obvious duties as citizens.'"

"It is hard to judge from this distance," states the SEATTLE DAILY TIMES, "what material is available in Chicago for the important position of mayor, but the country at large has been tremendously impressed with the determination and the resourcefulness of Judge Lyle. It would create a great deal of confidence if a man such as he were chosen to the highest post within the gift of the city. It would give convincing proof that Chicago at least is trying to do better."

"If Big Bill Thompson gets the mayoralty, Chicago will waste its time seeking sympathy for anything from the rest of the country declares the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST. The SYRACUSE HERALD holds that 'the crisis is one that calls for a formidable union of the city's best citizenship in a highly emergent and even desperate situation.' The SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE suggests that 'Judge Lyle has a tremendous advantage, for he has gone much farther than any other public official in the anti-gang campaign, that any promises he makes on that score will be backed by a record of remarkable action.' The HARTFORD TIMES advises that 'compromise among the opponents of Mayor Thompson and elimination of all save one will be essential to make victory against the Thompson machine, and will be the

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE AGE OF WARRIORS

The death of Congressman Stedman, the last veteran of the Civil War in Congress, has started speculation as to how long the last veteran of that great war on either side will survive.

The last soldier of the Revolutionary War died in 1869, or eighty-six years after the close of that conflict. The survivor of the War of 1812 died ninety-one years after peace was declared. The last American who fought in the Mexican War died only last year, eighty-one years after that war ended.

Should the last soldier of the Civil War survive as long as the last soldier of the Revolution, he will pass away in 1951. Compared with the last survivor of the War of 1812, he will be 1956 and with the last man of the Mexican War it will be 1946 when the last Civil War veteran will go to his reward.

On the same basis the last veteran of the World War will pass on some time between 1999 and 2009.

War seems to be rather healthy exercise at that

New Rules In Effect In House

Will Result In Three Less Committee Chairmanships In Lower Branch

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—New rules of the house of the state legislature, approved in the closing days of the 1929 session, went into effect today when the general assembly convened for organization, and will mean three less committee chairmanships in the house this session.

The new rules call for abolition of eight committees which served in the 1929 and previous sessions. Committees eliminated under the new rules are Accounts, centennial affairs, bureau of statistics, iron and coal, labor and industry, library, public buildings, and rearmament and reform.

Under the new rules, under which the house organized today, the chamber is divided into the following committees:

Aeronautics, agriculture, appropriations, banking, boroughs, building and loan associations, cities, congressional appointment, constitutional amendments, corporations, counties, education, election, federal relations, fisheries, forestry, game, geological survey, highways, insurance, judiciary appointment, judiciary general, judiciary local, judiciary special.

Law and order, legislative apportionment, manufacturers, military affairs, mines and mining, municipal printing, public health and sanitation, corporations, pensions and gratuities, public utilities, railroads, and railways, repeat bills, rules state government, townships, and ways and means.

More careful consideration of bills, it is believed, will result from the revised rules and the division of work of several important committees.

Fredonia Man In Charge Of Next Dinner Program

George Lawrence Arranges Entertainment For Friday Evening At Consistory

Arrangements are now being completed for the next dinner-dance program of the New Castle Consistory Dinner Club, which will be given in the Cathedral on Friday evening, January 9.

George Lawrence of Fredonia, who is famous in Consistory circles for his whistling, will have charge of the program for the evening, and something out of the ordinary is being looked forward to by those who expect to attend.

W. Stanley Treser will be in charge of the reception and there will be cards and dancing following the dinner and program.

General Chairman William J. Moffatt urges those expecting to attend to have their reservations in by Wednesday. Many members in the past have been neglecting to send their reservations and have been coming without making reservation at all. This has greatly inconvenienced the committee.

College Men Find Scrubbing Brush Source Of Income

Most Of Jobs Listed At Y. M. C. A. Are For House Work, Report Shows

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 6.—A well developed technique with scrubbing brush and dust cloth is a valuable asset to the college man who is trying to earn part of his expenses while attending the Pennsylvania State College, an analysis of calls for student help reveals.

More than half of the jobs listed at the Penn State student Y. M. C. A. are for house work. Harry W. Seamans, general secretary, said, "While a considerable number of part time employers want ashes taken out, walks cleaned or snow shoveled," he said, "the steady run of requests is for men who can do house work. Scrubbing floors, washing windows, and general house cleaning, are the way these part time jobs are described when calls for student help are made. It has been our experience that an occasional student who is handy around a house, and who is willing to do the work, may obtain fairly regular employment in this manner."

In a town where almost half the population is composed of students, there is, generally not enough work for a student to depend entirely on his earnings while at college to meet his expenses. Seamans said, although a combination of jobs enables an occasional youth to do so.

Peter's Adventures

AIR FOR THE INJURED

"What do you think of my spike now?" asked Peter. "Is it worth anything or not?"

Commander moaned with the pain in her side.

"That old spike's a weapon for anyone to fear," she admitted. "I have felt the taste of it and I shall never say a word against it again. I am lucky if I get home without falling by the wayside. Run, warrior, bring me some food and water quickly."

No sooner had Commander given the order when an aide came hastening up. To Peter's great surprise the newcomer set to licking Commander's wound.

"What a good thing I happened to be standing by," muttered she. "This is a nasty wound. You need attention. Next time, I hope you won't monkey with any weapon you don't know how to handle."

This was a daring way to talk to a superior officer. Peter expected the Commander to get angry. Instead, Commander patted her nurse with her antennae.

"Faithful sister," said Commander. "Never far from my side, are you?"

"No!" admitted the other and murmured:

"Of course I had no idea you would wound yourself, but I did think that after all the excitement you have had you would be too tired to march home. So I have sent for the slaves to carry you home where I shall see to it that you rest!"

Next: "Lively Leads the Slave."

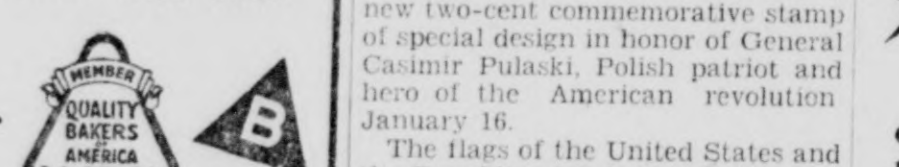

The senate is against Mr. Hoover but that's the only break he's had since he took office.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer

INVOICING THE STOCK

Editor The News:

About this time of year, the careful merchant will invoice his stock of goods to see what he has got on hand. It might be a good plan for us as a nation to invoice our stock of goods. Perhaps a good place to start would be with the U. S. Senate. We find a group of insurgent Senators, who seem to have no other object in view but to embarrass the President, to block the way for needed legislation, squander the hard earned taxes of the people and stir up a commotion.

In the humble opinion of the writer (if the Senate could be abolished for about ten years, it would be a great blessing to the United States and one of the biggest obstacles in the way of returning prosperity would be removed).

Turning now to the lower house of congress, we find that it is more like the abode of sanity. Many of the members seem to have lucid intervals and act as if they realized that the people may have sent them to congress to legislate for the good of the country. One way to account for this is that the members of the house of representatives are only elected for two years and about half of that time is spent in repairing their political fences and laying the wires for reelection and they don't have so much time as the Senators have to map out a plan to compel President Hoover to call an extra session of congress, knowing as everyone does, that it would disturb the business of the country.

Passing on to the secular newspaper, we find that most of them are very busily engaged in the work of spreading propaganda about 90 percent of which is absolutely false and untrue and in the other ten percent, the truth is so badly warped and twisted out of shape as to be hardly recognizable.

However, there are some exceptions to the rule, the New Castle News and the Beaver Falls Review (a weekly paper) in Rochester, N. Y., lives Mr. Frank Gannett, who is the owner of seventeen daily newspapers published in different parts of that state and every one of them is bone dry. All honor to Mr. Gannett. He is one of the uncrowned kings of America, and long may he live and prosper.

And now what about our stock of judges. In Denver, Colorado lives Judge Ben B. Lindsay. Some years ago, he seemed to be doing a good work as judge of the Juvenile Court and it looked as if he had started to climb the ladder of fame, but the judge did not climb very high. The ladder broke down and he hit the ground with a dull thud. For the last two or three years, he has been traveling over the country and lecturing on Companionate Marriage and has succeeded far beyond his most sanguine expectations in making his name a stench to the nostrils of the people of Colorado and of the whole United States.

We find another judge that is very much in the line light now and that is Judge William Clark of Newark, N. J. He has discovered that the Eighteenth Amendment is unconstitutional. Rather strange is it not, that the Supreme Court made up of distinguished lawyers and able jurists and also William Howard Taft and Charles Evans Hughes never found anything wrong with the Eighteenth Amendment and have repeatedly pronounced it constitutional. Well the way to explain that is to say that Judge Clark is not a little smarter than the other fellows and he has discovered that while the Eighteenth Amendment may have been framed all right in the first place, that it should have been done in the light of the Moon, hence the whole business is unconstitutional.

Invoking our stock of judges on hands at the beginning of 1931, we should make mention of the fact that we have one mighty sharp judge and that his name is William Clark of New Jersey.

Among the criminal lawyers, the name of Clarence Darrow looms up big. In his old days, he can look back over a long life that has been devoted to the work of turning criminals loose in society. What a lofty ambition for Clarence Darrow and other criminal lawyers have. Speaking of lawyers, I am reminded of the Country Literary Society that had for its consideration this question for debate, "Is it wrong to cheat a lawyer?" After wrestling for three whole evenings with that profound question, they came to the conclusion that it wasn't wrong but it was mighty hard to do.

Governor Fisher Gives Accounting Of Four Year Term

Message Delivered To Joint Session Of House And Senate

Financial Condition Of State Is Excellent Governor Reports

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—Before a joint session of the Senate and House of the 129th Pennsylvania legislature, Gov. John S. Fisher today gave an account of his stewardship. Principal theme of the accounting was the excellent financial condition of the Commonwealth and efficiency of its government.

Prosperous State Finances

"It is a satisfaction," the governor said, "to report the prosperous condition of the state treasury. The ordinary revenues have been sufficient for all the authorized needs of government. Notwithstanding a number of material tax reductions, most important of which was the gradual elimination of the anthracite coal tonnage tax, the biennium closing May 31, 1929 showed a surplus in the general fund of $26,532,382.48 and the present biennium, from revenues now collected and expected to accrue up to May 31, 1931 will show a balance of about $29,000,000 in the general fund, free from appropriation liabilities."

"The state is free of debt, except that incurred for road building, the retiring chief executive told the legislators."

"The two road bond issues," he said, "amounted to $100,000,000 and on these there has been made a substantial reduction. Net road debt as of December 1, 1930, through calling of bonds and reserve of sinking funds for their redemption, was $78,981,213."

Governor Fisher dwelt at length on the magnitude of the financial operations of the state and the scientific knowledge necessary to their management.

"In the aggregate, estimating to May 31, 1931, the amount of money required to carry on the government for the four fiscal years is approximately $635,295,457.12."

"To insure a healthy management of its business," he stated, "the entire financial machinery of the state has been overhauled. The Department of Revenue was created by the session of 1927 and made workable by the Fiscal and Administrative Codes of 1929. It has brought under single control functions formerly exercised by the auditor general and a great number of departments, boards, commissions and institutions; it eliminated approximately 300 special funds and accounts; it gives the Governor a greater measure of authority in collection of revenues and hence a firmer and more intelligent grasp of one of the essential factors entering into building of the budget."

Collect Huge Sum

Since going into operation, he said, the department has collected a total of $123,375,935.42, and it estimates held out, will have collected a grand total of $367,073,450.33 for the 23 months of operation in the present biennium. Concentration of collection agencies, Governor Fisher said, has relieved other departments to operate more freely and effectively in their own fields.

Rapid growth of the state custodial funds from $63,339,581.38 on June 1, 1927 to $107,000,365.30 on November 1, 1930, he pointed out, illustrates the importance of scientific business methods in state affairs. Of the custodial funds, the governor said, a total of $84,054,005 has been invested in Pennsylvania road, school and other municipal bonds.

"Both by choice and by necessity," the executive continued, "this administration has been given much to constructive enterprises."

He then sketched the building program outlined during the first days of the administration, the organization of the bureau of engineering in the Department of Property and Supplies, and the carrying out of the program.

During Gov. Fisher's administration, the Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Bldg., begun in the first Pinchot administration, was completed, the North Office and Educational buildings were constructed and the former occupied; and the State Farm Show building was erected and made ready for use, leaving only North Office Building No. 2 to be built to round out the "Bruner plan" for the state capital ground. Repair and building contracts calling for expenditures of about $39,000,000 were let under Gov. Fisher, the message disclosed.

Cities Progress

"Welfare, health and other institutions have also been enlarged," the governor reported. "On June 1, 1927 the welfare institutions had a capacity of 18,053 inmates and at completion of the additions and new buildings now under contract they will have a capacity of 23,617 inmates, together with accommodation for 425 more employees and 148 nurses."

The governor dwelt briefly on adoption of centralized purchasing for the state and its institutions and declared it to be a step toward more economic operation of government.

Then the highway record of the commonwealth during his administration came in for extended treatment.

The retiring executive recited that in the past four years the highway department has expended $235,062,215.43, of which some what more than fourteen and one half million dollars was let over from the previous administration. Major road work during that period covered 4,038 miles of new construction, of which 3,051 miles was new pavement; 495 miles were replacements; and 512 miles resurfacing of worn-out roads.

"The year 1930 is pointed to as the banner year of road construction," the governor declared, "the program of 1,300 miles set up in advance of construction having practically been completed."

13,401 Miles Of Good Roads

The primary road system of the state now contains 13,401 miles, Governor Fisher said, leaving about 3,000 miles of unimproved roads on the secondary system.

In connection with highways, he recommended study of a classification of township roads made under department supervision and classing roads in order of importance as primary, secondary and useless. It is expected, he said, the study will be of great importance in determining future policy and legislation regarding roads.

Gov. Fisher then sketched the accomplishments of the various state departments and bureaus. He commended the study pushing of reclamation and conservation projects which have added 444,000 acres to state forests, bringing the total state forestry area to 1,575,000 acres; he praised the Sanitary Water Board for its drive against stream pollution, paid tribute to the board of fish commissioners for installation of two new hatcheries, enlargement of older ones and stocking of streams; and to the game commission for its propagation of wild life, addition of hunting lands and work against predatory animals.

He congratulated the Department of Health for its work in combating diseases, reduction of infectious and communicable diseases, pointed to the good record of the department of labor and the Workmen's Compensation Bureau, spoke highly of the progress made in the educational work of the state and the improvement of training methods and extension of work.

The departments of state and justice came in for praise for their administration and interpretation of the laws and for their constructive work in the government.

Department Of Agriculture

"Importance of agriculture has been emphasized," Gov. Fisher continued. "Our farms and farm equipment are valued at $1,460,000,000, second only to the steam railroads with an investment value of $2,155,000,000. Every effort has been made to develop, conserve and protect the farms."

"The present year has been somewhat depressed by the disastrous drought and low prices but farmers are meeting their difficulties courageously and uncomplainingly. The dairy business and sheep industry have made great strides, and excellent progress has been made in prevention and control of serious livestock diseases."

Bovine tuberculosis eradication work, the executive mentioned in passing, is now complete in 70 percent of the counties of the state.

He referred briefly to the general business depression, stating that it tested the strength of the state and the reliance of people in banks, building and loan companies and many types of insurance firms. In the past four years, he said, the tremendous growth and prosperity of these agencies was sufficient to enable them to "carry over the months of adversity with remarkably few failures."

"In the main, we have been a law-abiding people," Gov. Fisher told the legislators.

"However, I desire to call your attention to the increase in crimes against property. Recommendations have been made, calling for legislation to strip the criminal of his weapons and tools and to remedy the inadequacy of our antiquated laws to combat modernized crime. These appeals are the voice of wisdom and should be heeded."

Praises State Police

He praised the work of the state police force, stating its efficiency has been improved by enlargement and by installation of the telephone communication system.

He pointed out that industrial peace has been the general rule and that of the 405 labor disputes, virtually all were settled without serious trouble or loss to the 3,300 employers or 65,000 employees affected.

"One cannot sit at the helm of the state government for four years," Gov. Fisher said in closing, "without being impressed by the greatness and power of our commonwealth."

"Our resources are measureless and productive powers of our people almost limitless. We are rich in all the materials that enter into a prosperous and contented commonwealth. My experience has strengthened my confidence and deepened my faith in Pennsylvania."

"There is health in her bones and strength in her sinews to meet and master all problems of the future."

Mayor's Relief Body In Session

Plans Are Made For Continuance Of Local Relief Work

BENEFIT BOXING SHOW APPROVED

Members of Mayor William H. Gillespie's committee on relief held an enthusiastic session at the city hall last night where work already done was related and plans for the future announced.

Orville Potter told of relief given since the last meeting and the mayor had Treasurer McClung present a report showing the financial condition of the committee. The fund now on hand amounts to $1,185.78.

The Electric Lumbering society presented a check for $50 to the committee and the monies received during the week follow: Peoples Amusement company $69.80, National Radiator employees $87.78 and city employees $234.34.

Prior to last night the amount was $749.96 and after the report of the committee having $1,135.78 came the presentation of the Electric Lumbering society for $50 which helped to swell the fund which is used for relief.

The committee endorsed the boxing show between Willie Davies and Phil Tobias to be staged by Ed Fritz at the Castle bowl, January 19. Prospects for adding a big sum to the committee's relief fund are excellent.

The mayor said that he had attended boxing bouts here and as the match is one of widespread attention it no doubt would prove very attractive to the people who like boxing which is legalized and governed by the state.

Fritz asked the mayor to name his own committee to handle the affair as he would be busy superintending the fight. Ed Fritz was selected as distribution agent for the tickets.

The mayor then named the following members to cooperate with Fritz and Richards: Dr. H. H. Rosenthal, Walter Patterson, Peter Capicola, John Livin, Adolph Lang and Ivor Davis.

It is planned to inform the civic organizations here of the project and to have them support the show by their attendance, and to create all the interest possible in the movement.

Ivor Davis presented a motion, which was adopted, establishing a clearing house for all charitable organizations under the jurisdiction of the mayor's relief committee.

It was decided to ask the chamber of commerce to install the clearing house and if they cannot do so the committee will, through the system considerable duplication of relief will be eliminated.

"Army," as his friends and followers of the team call him, is the second leader to step into the head job by appointment and follows John Drescher who wore the captain's stripes for two years.

Judge Steffen and Bob Waddell have already laid plans to build the strong Carnegie offense around the towering halfback for the coming season.

The new captain has had a brilliant career at the Tartan school where he came from Schenley high school in Pittsburgh. He is the first native Pittsburgher to lead the Techies since Jimmy Robertson handled the team in 1923.

ANALYZES JOB OPENINGS

There are jobs for students with mental equipment to teach science, mathematics, and Commerce but no opening just now for teachers of Romance languages.

The above is the announcement today of Prof. R. G. Walters of the faculty of Grove City College whose work entails the placing of students.

In the commercial field there is a demand for good cost accountants but no crying plea for ordinary accountants. Students with an education in advertising and marketing can get jobs.

Just at the present time it is a tough job placing any students says Walters who however is of the opinion that this condition is just temporary due to hard times.

Near Hurricane Strikes Uniontown

(International News Service) UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 6.—Reconstruction work made necessary by the hurricane, of a Whirling Dervish variety, which swept through this section of Fayette county went forward today while property owners were estimating the extent of their losses.

In actual terms of dollars and cents, no estimates of the damage left by the storm were available but there was no doubt that property damage will amount to many thousands of dollars.

The storm swept in from the Allegheny Mountain foothills with a warning. A shrieking, whipping wind was the only herald of the storm's approach, and the full blast followed so closely on the heels of the first breeze that preparations to ward off property damage were impossible.

Residents of Uniontown and vicinity were agreed that at one time the howling wind reached a velocity of 102 miles an hour. Although the storm centered itself on Uniontown, the effects were felt within a radius of twelve miles in all directions.

Business establishments probably were hardest hit. Plate glass windows were shattered in many business places while four apartments in the W. L. Rankin building were wrecked. On entire side of the building was sheared off cleanly, exposing all apartments.

Club Women Hear Of Work Among Blind At Meeting Monday

The Good Lord never meant blindness and beggary to be synonymous," said Mrs. C. C. Taylor, chairman of work for the blind in the State Federation, as she addressed the members of the Women's Club in the Highland United Presbyterian church Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Albert Street presided at the regular meeting of the club and it was announced that Mrs. David Jameson had accepted an honorary membership to the club, which had been the culmination of the splendid services Mrs. Jameson had given to the city of New Castle, and the women of the Women's Club wished to show their appreciation in this manner.

Mrs. Carrie Jeffries announced that the P. E. O. Sisterhood of the city has made arrangements to bring Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen to New Castle to speak in February.

Mrs. W. A. Pond, chairman of the department of applied education, then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Mabel Osterling Taylor, of Pittsburgh, who has been blind for the past four and a half years and who has the interests of the blind so close to her heart. She is a most winsome, charming woman, who put the appeal for aid for the blind in such a manner that there was many a surreptitious tear trickled down the cheeks of the club women.

Until a person has talked with someone who is directly and actively interested in the blind, he has not the slightest conception of their problem, nor what is being done for them. It is not a question of a few pennies in a tin cup for one who bears the placard, "Please Help the Blind"; the problem goes much deeper and involves more of one's self.

Tells of Plight

Mrs. Taylor in opening her talk of the afternoon took the members back to a day in May, 1925, a beautiful spring day, with the sun sinking below the horizon in a blaze of glory, the small stars making their appearance and a glorious moon shining over all, then the dawn of a new day, with groups going to their work in the fields on which God's sun shone so marvelously, but not for her, the day dawned only in darkness to Mrs. Taylor. When she became aware of the awful darkness, the despair and the cloud upon her sight, it seemed as if the end was come. She quoted most beautifully the words of Milton, written upon his blindness, then went on to tell of how a ray of encouragement had come to her in the form of a teacher from the Blind Association of Pittsburgh, a state-wide organization that has gone so far in aiding the blind to aid themselves.

Aid to Blind

The Pittsburgh Association for the Blind has a number of teachers who go about to the homes, the factories, the work shops, the schools and any place that it is convenient for the blind adults to receive them, teaching them, aiding them and putting them in a position to be self-supporting and independent.

Mrs. Taylor showed the Moore system of blind reading, as well as the Braille system, and explained how the reading, the writing and the transcription can be done by the blind after they have mastered the elements of the systems. Remarkable is the fact that both systems, which are so widely used now and have been made international, were conceived and carried out by blind persons, Dr. William Moore, over 50 years ago, and Louis Braille, more recently. Along this line Mrs. Taylor states that a teacher, who is also blind, has greater success with the pupils, as she or he knows the depths, the pitfalls and cares of the blind, as they have travelled the trail.

She lauded the work of Mrs. Margaret Gaston, the teacher in New Castle, saying she was rearing a monument to herself that would live long after she has passed into eternity.

Work of Clubs

Mrs. Taylor enumerated the things the women's clubs throughout the land can do to aid in the work of helping the blind to take care of themselves, and this is through the buying of the articles made in the workshops of the blind. If every club woman in Pennsylvania would patronize blind skill to the extent of $1 or more a year a solution might be approximated. It is not charity the blind are asking for; it is the chance to learn so they can become skilled in the work they wish to sell. Mrs. Taylor enumerated many cases in which the blind excel at their work, such as piano tuning, typing, dictaphone operating and cane work, to say nothing of the success blind persons have made in music, literature, medicine, business and science.

If the women see to it that there are more schools established for the blind and schools for the children with badly impaired eyesight, this would go far toward solving the blind problem. The prevention of blindness is another point she stressed and appealed to the women to take up this work in the state.

The education of the blind is no longer in its infancy, but is far advanced and needs only the aid of interested people to move along to further steps.

Mrs. Taylor closed her talk with a quotation from Helen Keller's book, "Out of the Dark".

Articles Offered

Mrs. Eugene Morgett of Pittsburgh, who accompanies Mrs. Taylor as her guide, then addressed the women and asked them to examine the articles they had with them, which are offered for sale, and which are the products of sightless eyes, which is hardly believable upon examination. The club women responded most liberally with their orders for articles that could be put to everyday use.

At the close of Mrs. Taylor's talk the women were received by her, and many were the ones she knew by their voices, as in her younger days she was a frequent visitor in New Castle, having many relatives here.

By what arrangement is the date of Easter Sunday set? Easter is always the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or next to March 21, and if the full moon happens on Sunday Easter is the Sunday after, thus Easter may come as early as March 22 or as late as April 25.

This gas burner makes your coal furnace an automatic heating plant... at a very low cost

YOUR heating labors and worries are over... the drudgery, dirt and annoyances of hand fired methods are shadows of the past when your coal furnace is converted into an automatic gas heating plant by the Surface Combustion Gas Burner.

The change can be made in a few hours' time without any bother or inconvenience to you and without changing your present heating system. And the job is guaranteed to operate to your complete satisfaction.

Easy to Pay For

SO LOW is the cost of equipment and so liberal is the two-year payment plan that any family who can afford a good washing machine or a first class radio can enjoy the comfort and convenience of automatic gas heat and never miss the small payments!

Estimate Free

IF YOU are at all interested in automatic heating, if you would like to free the family of the nuisance and hardship of old fashioned methods, if Winter time health protection means anything to you, we suggest you send for one of our heating men to explain the costs and benefits of gas heat.

Please do not feel obligated—our Heating Man's mission is to be of service in acquainting you with just how automatic gas heat will work out in your home. He will examine your present heating system, compute its efficiency, measure up the heat requirements for the type of your house construction, and then supply you with a reliable estimate of your season's fuel bill.

Summer Heat all Winter

Fits any coal furnace

...and any coal boiler

Finger tip control

Ask about Liberal Allowances

His estimate will not be a guess, but a reasonably accurate forecast of your complete heating costs arrived at by engineering methods and the records of the United States Weather Bureau covering normal weather conditions. Experience of most users is that their gas bills are less than the estimate.

No Payments till Spring

YOU probably will be agreeably surprised at the relatively low cost of this ideal form of automatic heating. In many instances you will find the fuel cost of gas less than the cost of other fuels. And where the estimate on gas may be a little more, remember that there are no hidden costs to gas heat.

With gas you pay nothing for delivery, nothing for putting the fuel in the cellar, nothing for ash removal, nothing for furnace cleaning, far less for housekeeping, drapery, carpet and furniture renovating. Wall paper and decoration expense is much lower with gas and you do not have to pay for the gas until after you have used it.

Enjoy Automatic Gas Heat—NOW!

And still you can enjoy all these savings of gas heat, and at the same time be free of all heating bother, furnace coddling and grimy stoking. Gas heat is completely automatic. If your freedom is worth anything to you at all, we feel you won't go through the rest of this winter with annoyance and downright slavery when you learn how little gas heat costs. Why not telephone the Gas Office now?

SPECIAL LIBERAL TERMS

Low Down Payment. No further payments till April.

24 months for the balance. You pay only $1 monthly in December, January and February.

War Department Bill Reported

Rushing Annual Supply
Bills One Means Of Preventing Extra-Session

DEFICIENCY BILL ALSO REPORTED

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Rushing the annual supply bills as one means of preventing an extra session of Congress, the House appropriations committee today reported the War Department supply bill carrying $446,024,150 for 1932 and a deficiency bill of $92,393,328.

The War Department bill cut $4-316,000 under budget estimates but the deficiency bill slightly exceeded
President Hoover's recommendations.

Deficiencies for the Justice Department prohibition bureau of $543,370, Veterans Bureau of $55-700,000 and $34,000,000 for the federal highway system made up the bulk of the deficiency bill.

The War Department bill provides for carrying on army activities next year much as they are now carried on. The five year air program, it is stated, will be short 66 planes next year, it is planned to increase the National Guard from 190,000 to 195-
000 men.

The bill carries $60,000,000 for rivers and harbors compared to $55-000,000 last year, and $35,000,000 for Mississippi River flood control work, the same as last year.

An appropriation of $2,000,000 is provided to cooperate with the aircraft development corporation of Detroit in working out preliminary preparatory to construction a huge metal clad dirigible.

Plans Are Being Made For Highway

Employees Of Highway Department Looking Over New Castle-Harlanburg
Road

Engineers and surveyors of the Pennsylvania State Highway Department have been engaged in recent weeks in planning for the concrete highway that will be laid between New Castle and Harlanburg, in replacement of the macadam road
that now stands.

A number of small road bridges and culverts will necessarily be constructed when the new road is built.
Highway men have just about completed a survey of the various proposed locations of these small bridges, determining the necessary foundation to be laid, the kind of soil, etc.

A report of all details must be made out and submitted to the state before any of the actual construction work can be started.

Acid Causes Discomfort After Meal

Dr. Clendening Outlines Diet
For Some Cases

By LOGAN CLENDENING M. D.

Many things — diseases and emotions — gallstones and business depression — may cause indigestion.
We discussed that yesterday. No single diet, therefore no diet alone will cure it.

Cases of indigestion, however, fall into great groups. One is acid dyspepsia. The symptoms are a discomfort in the stomach after meals.
"My food cakes in my stomach," some patients say. There is "sour stomach," the regurgitation of acid food into the mouth. Constipation is often present, as are headaches.
Many patients have discomfort not after, but before meals. Certain foods relieve this more than others.

Such patients often are found to have ulcer of the stomach or duode-num. In some similar symptoms are due to nervousness. In general, all such patients will improve when certain rules of diet are observed.
This diet here described is planned for ambulatory patients—those who can get about to work, not those confined to bed or undergoing hospital treatment.

The housekeeper in this household must plan two kinds of meals
—one for the patient, one for the rest of the family. They can often be combined, the patient eating what is helpful for him.

The foods which combine with the acid which is normally present in the stomach but here found in excess are the predominating ones in the diet. These are the proteins and the fats.

Milk and cream—half and half—is the standard sample of such a food. It has no irritating qualities, it has high caloric value and it is soothing. Starting from that basis, foods containing milk and cream
may be added—cream soups, custards, ice cream, creamed chicken, etc.

Eggs and lean meats are next.
The breast of a young broiled spring chicken—every word there is valuable, breast, young, broiled (broiling breaks up the meat fibers and adds no fat as frying does)—is a sample.
Raw oysters are usually soothing.

Fruit juices, rather than whole fruits, and cooked fruits, and certain vegetables without too much residue or irritating properties, such as mashed potatoes, lima beans, beans, spinach and carrots, furnish the necessary fruit and vegetable part of the diet.

Cereals should be thoroughly cooked.
Fresh white bread is usually very irritating. It should be served stale or toasted or just the crust used.

The three S's—sweet, sour and spiced—are to be avoided. Hence candy, sweet desserts, griddle cakes or waffles with molasses or syrup, salads with dressing, pickles, pepper,
chili, horseradish, mustard and catsup come under the ban. Tomatoes, sauerkraut and cabbage are found uncomfortable by most patients.
Fried foods also.

Fruit, coffee and cocoa seem to cause no irritation; alcoholic beverages should be thought of as if prohibited by the constitution.
Six small meals rather than three large are advised.

It is cheering to learn that scientists are attacking the common cold, though with some of them it's probably a counter-attack.—The Worcester Evening Gazette.

DANDRUFF A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

Woman Grilled In Death Of Husband

Mrs. Evelyn Ellick, Questioned Severely By Officers In Husband's Death

STICKS TO STORY OF NEGRO ATTACK

(International News Service)
NORRISTOWN, Pa., Jan. 6.—Despite 21 hours of fruitless questioning, Mrs. Evelyn Ellick, 23-year old wife of William C. Ellick, who was shot to death near their cottage at Roslyn Sunday night, was still being detained by Montgomery county officials today.

No charge has been placed against her, but she will be held for further questioning, according to District Attorney Francis X. Renninger.

"I am certain," Renninger said, "that her story of the attack by a negro is a myth. I am also certain she is not telling the truth, although at present there are a few facts to back up this belief of mine."

Is Clever Woman

"The woman's story simply doesn't make sense. Her manner is most unusual. She is clever, and she is proud of her cleverness. There seems to be no emotion in her. We will continue to question her and we will hold her as a material witness if necessary."

Ellick was found killed by a heavy charge from a shotgun near their Roslyn cottage in Upper Dublin township a few miles from here about midnight Sunday. A few hours before Mrs. Ellick had returned home from a walk recounting a story of being assaulted by a negro. Seeing a shotgun her husband started out to find her attacker, Mrs. Ellick said.

A passing motorist hours later found Ellick's body with his head almost torn off by a shot from his own gun. Shortly afterwards Mrs. Ellick was taken into custody and has since been detained at the Montgomery jail.

Says Statistics Gathered By Government Show Steady Improvement

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 6.—Business in America is decidedly on the mend is the announcement of T. C. Cochran of Mercer, congressman for the 28th Pennsylvania district, home during a recess of the house.

As yet the improvement is only far enough advanced to be noticed in the many statistical reports that are being gathered at the capital city where the nation's financial and industrial pulse is being watched by every official from the president down. All are of the opinion that 1931 will see a return of conditions to approximate normalcy, says Cochran.

"GIVE KONJOLA ALL CREDIT"

Philadelphia Lady Tells How Illness Of Over A Year Yields To Power Of New Medicine

MRS. HANNAH M. MUCHLER

"For over a year I had terrible pains in my stomach and side after meals," said Mrs. Hannah M. Muchler, Plymouth, Pa., near Wilkes-Barre. "The pains were sharp and cramping and accompanied by a feeling of heaviness followed by heartburn. I was on a strict diet and often felt that I was not getting enough nourishment. The pains seemed to grow more severe."

"I read of Konjola and decided to try it. That was eight weeks ago. Today I can eat and enjoy practically anything I want and suffering is a thing of the past. I am feeling better than I have in a year and I give all credit to Konjola."

This famous medicine is free from alcohol or harmful drugs. It should be taken over a six to eight week period in the average case.

Konjola is sold by Love & McGown, the Druggists, 204 East Washington St., this city.

$30,000. The naming of O. A. Perschka as game warden to fill the vacancy of Frank Fair is expected any hour.

The first court since December 22 was held Monday. The session was the regular motion and petition court with half a dozen cases listed for hearing.

Fourteen held in the county jail who signed pleas ask to be sentenced on this date.

LESS LEGAL BUSINESS

Hard times have affected the county offices, the records of County Recorder William Jones show in his summarization of 1930 which totals the filing of 4389 legal instruments during the year.

The number is 526 less than the total of 1929. The deeds total 2134, which would be 343 less; the mortgages total 1083, or 222 less; the miscellaneous paper total 1172, or 39 more.

Despite the reduction the year has been a good one for the office operated on a highly efficient basis.

LEGISLATURE IN FORMAL SESSION

pointment of permanent committees, which will be done in the recess.

Such measures must wait, until the resolution, until after final organization of the senate when it meets preparatory to the inaugural of the governor-elect on Jan. 19.

November election results were also read and approved in the senate, then the members took the formal oath of office, nine of them for the first time. The oath was administered by Judge John E. Fox, of the Dauphin county court.

Daix Elected.

Senator John G. Homsher, Lancaster, who presided at the Republican caucus last night, and voted for Senator William D. Mansfield, Allegheny, placed the name of Senator Augustus P. Daix, Jr., Philadelphia, in nomination for president pro tem and on a straight party vote Daix received the 46 Republican ballots to 4 cast for Senator Warren R. Roberts, Bethlehem, the Democratic choice for president pro tem.

Marked by Senators Roberts and Mansfield, the latter defeated for the post in the party caucus last night, Daix was escorted to the chair and sworn in as president pro tem. There was no opposition to the selection of senate aides, and A. Boyd Hamilton, Dauphin, was named secretary, John E. McKirdy, Allegheny, chief clerk, and Herman P. Miller, Dauphin, librarian. The senate then began consideration of routine resolutions and appointment of temporary committees.

In the house, roll call showed 198 members present, and on motion of Rep. George Reed, Dauphin, Judge P. B. Wickham, of the Dauphin County Court, was asked to administer the oath to members of the lower chamber.

Five house members, including Mrs. Lillith M. Wilson, socialist member from Reading, took the office by affirmation instead of the usual oath.

On motion of Rep. Wheeler, Forest, the house then proceeded to election of a speaker and Rep. Thomas B. Wilson nominated C. Jay Goodnough, Cameron, named as the choice of Republican house members last night. Rep. Maybelle M. Kirkbride, Montgomery, seconded the nomination.

Then Rep. Frank W. Ruth, Berks, placed in nomination the name of Rep. Wilson G. Sarig, Berks, as the choice of the Democrats.

Upon the roll, Goodnough received 184 votes and 23 ballots were cast for Sarig, and the Cameron county representative, endorsed by the governor-elect, was declared speaker of the house.

Fruit Growers To Name Officers

Annual Session Is Started With Discussion About Bees

STATE EXPERTS ARE MAKING ADDRESSES

"Discussions on pollination and the importance of keeping colonies of healthy bees in fruit orchards marked the initial sessions of the second horticultural and orchard school in the Y. M. C. A. today under the auspices of the Lawrence County Fruit Growers Association and the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association.

Fruit growers and orchardists from the entire county heard two fruit experts of State College in the banquet room of the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon. The attendees at the school, which closes Wednesday afternoon, will attend the annual banquet and election of the Lawrence County Fruit Growers Association.

W. H. Matthews of Salem, O., is the banquet speaker.

Later this afternoon the group of growers met in the orchard of Roy and Baldwin, located six miles east of New Castle on the Harlansburg improved road, for a field demonstration in pruning, grafting and fertilizing problems of the orchard.

The second annual horticultural school was opened in the Y. M. C. A. this morning with a talk, "Pollination," by John H. Ruff, extension bee specialist of State College, who spoke on the "Value of Bees in the Orchard."

Ruff emphasized the importance of proper pollination to bring about increased production and lessened the percentage of irregular shaped fruits resulting from improper fertilization. Ruff stated the growers should resort to a more thorough selection of varieties, selecting only those varieties that are known to be of value in cross-fertilization.

The importance of keeping bees in the orchard for the purpose of having the bees carry pollen from one variety of flower to another was stressed by Anderson, the bee specialist.

The practice of keeping healthy bees, the expert said, will result in a fruit that will be, if anything, sweeter and finer in color. He told of the importance of having bee colonies in a healthy condition.

Among those present when the horticultural school sessions opened this morning were:

R. D. Dawson, Bie Beaver; William Edmiston, Wilmington township; S. R. Baldwin, New Castle; Fred Lusk, Wilmington; William Walton, Wayne township; J. F. Young, Wayne township; C. L. McCormick, New Castle; M. M. Ingham, Nesheamock township; T. G. Hutchinson, Wilmington township; Charles Harbison, Shenandoah township; J. W. Cummings, New Wilmington; Carl Hileman, Nesheamock township; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Johnson, Wilmington township; James Kelso, North Beaver township; Mr. and Mrs. John Brewster, North Beaver township; Mr. and Mrs. John Shumaker, North Beaver township.

The schedule for Wednesday is as follows:

10 a. m. to 11 a. m.—"Fire Blight," by L. T. Denniston, extension pathologist.

11 a. m. to noon—"The Plum Curculio as an Apple Pest, and How to Control It," by W. T. Henery, extension entomologist.

1:30 p. m. to 2:30 p. m.—"Spray Service—Its Purpose and Operation," L. T. Denniston.

Greer's Tax Talk Explains Expenses

City Controller Appears Before Lions Club At Noon-Hour Meeting

Pointing out in minute detail what becomes of every tax dollar that citizens pay into city coffers, City Controller Phil G. Greer addressed the Lions Club of the city in the Elks Club at noon today on "The Tax Dollar."

His talk was an appropriate one inasmuch as the city tax question seems to be the question of the hour.

The city controller illustrated his remarks with three circular cardboard designed like a dollar. The proportion which each city department gets was marked to make the division more understandable.

Presenting Mr. Greer's message, the club heard letters of appreciation from two county blind folks, thanking the membership for the Christmas party held in their behalf on December 22. Secretary T. I. Elliott also reported a visit which he and two other Lions made to the Butler club a week ago yesterday.

Old Time River
Record Unbroken

(International News Service)

TARENTUM, Pa., Jan. 6.—A record for upstream navigation on the Allegheny river, set in 1852 by the steamer Allegheny Belle No. 2, still stands, according to the rapidly vanishing tribe of old time navigators along the stream.

The record, it is recalled, was set March 11, 1852, when the steamer made the journey from Pittsburgh to Franklin, at the head of the stream, in 16 hours and 30 minutes.

Records made by the same steamer to intermediate points on the stream are still good, too, according to the old-timers, who deprecate the modern vessels for "bustin' records."

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Franklin's 13 Rules Of Conduct
Good For Parents, Says Dr. MeyersBy GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

Let those children with good minds who have trouble with arithmetic find comfort in the experiences of Franklin. Although he says in his autobiography: "I do not remember when I could not read," he later says, "I failed in arithmetic." This was at about the age of nine. But of this subject when he was sixteen he notes:

"And now it was that, being on some occasions made ashamed of my ignorance in figures, which I had twice failed in learning when at school, I took Cocker's book of arithmetic, and went through the whole by myself with great ease."

For us adults and for our children he at an early age set us good models of self-improvement. "While I was intent on improving my language, I met with an English grammar . . . and logic, the latter finishing with a specimen of a dispute in the Socratic method. . . . I was charmed with it, adopted it, dropped by abrupt contradiction and positive argumentation, and put on the humbler enquirer and doubter."

From this he says he learned to avoid such words as "certainly, undoubtedly, or any other that give the air of positiveness to an opinion; but rather I say, I conceive or apprehend a thing to be so and so; it appears to me, or I should think it is so or so; or it is so, if I am not mistaken. This habit, I believe, has been of great advantage to me," and he suggests that it is a good way of making our conversation more agreeable and attractive.

In his later adolescence Franklin drew up thirteen rules of conduct. "It was about this time I conceived the bold and arduous project of arriving at moral perfection. I wished to live without committing any fault at any time; I would conquer all that either natural inclination, custom, or company might lead me into. As I knew, or thought I knew, what was right and wrong, I did not see why I might not always do the one and avoid the other. But I soon found I had undertaken a task of more difficulty than I had imagined.

While my care was employed in guarding against one fault, I was often surprised by another; habit took the advantage of intention; inclination was sometimes too strong for reason. I concluded, at length, that the mere speculative conviction that it was our interest to be completely virtuous, was not sufficient to prevent our slipping; and that the contrary habits must be broken, and good ones acquired and established, before we can have any dependence on a steady, uniform rectitude of conduct."

Then he listed and defined twelve virtues: temperance, silence, order, resolution, frugality, industry, sincerity, justice, moderation, cleanliness, tranquility, chastity, humility. Under "Silence" he says, for instance, "Speak not but what may benefit others or yourself; avoid trifling conversation . . . and therefore wishing to break the habit I was getting into of prattling, punning and joking, which only made me acceptable to trifling company. I gave Silence the second place."

"I judged it would be well not to distract my attention by attempting the whole at once, but to fix it on one of them at a time; and when I should be master of that, then to proceed to another, and so on until I should have gone through the thirteen." (Here is a tip for us parents to attack only one specific problem at a time in ourselves or in our children. We err so often just because we attempt too much at once.)

Boy Scout News

Davis' Plan Told

Scout Commissioner Ralph Davis suggests for the benefit of Lawrence county scouts a novel but practical way in which troop members may make unique craftwork articles, and at the same time have fun in doing so. His plan would be to transpose the now discarded Christmas trees into useful chairs, tables, coat-hangers, bird feeding perches, canes, Indian war clubs and other things.

Mr. Davis' idea is that each scout interested should secure an old tree to make something, whether it is what he suggests or not. After completing them take them to your scoutmaster.

Scoutmasters will be asked to bring to the Scout Leaders' club meeting on or around January 20 the best specimen produced by the troop, and before the entire group of leaders the most outstanding specimen will be picked. An official Boy Scout axe and sheath will be presented to the scout who wins.

Changes Announced

Advices received here from national headquarters list a number of important changes in organization and regulation which may interest to some extent the scoutmasters of the county.

For one, Arthur A. Schuck, formerly head of this region (Region Three) becomes director of the division of operations, while George W. Ehler, formerly executive of the Allegheny county council becomes assistant to the chief scout executive.

The 21st annual meeting and anniversary get-together of the national council occurs May 4 and 5 at Memphis, Tenn. Lawrence county rates one delegate, though other members of the council may attend. Advices also tell that mothers from now on will be permitted to wear the miniature badge of their son's scout rank, and these may be ordered from headquarters here at anytime.

Happy Athletic Club Is Formed

The Happy Club was recently formed by St. Vitus Church • young men. They propose to hold athletic meets and conduct entertainments in the near future. Peter Forone was elected the first president; Frank Mastrangelo, vice president, and Nicholas Mangrai, secretary. The club plans to hold a Valentine party on February 13 with the Merry-makers orchestra furnishing the music.

Mothers, Mix This
At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germladen phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of cressote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

THREE candles! And each one represents a year of joyous living. Winifred Fay, of 2659 So. 62nd St., Philadelphia, is a typical Fig Syrup baby. Here is what her mother says:

"Winifred was underweight as an infant. She suffered with her bowels until we began to give her California Fig Syrup. It relieved her constipation quickly, sweetened her breath, made her bright, happy and robust."

"I have given Fig Syrup to the rest of my children with equal success." For fifty years, wise mothers have been secure in the knowledge that a child's headache, bilious, feverish or fretful spells can be quickly and safely overcome by California Fig Syrup. Physicians recommend its soothing aid to keep the bowels clear, in colds, or children's ailments; or whenever bad breath, coated tongue, or listlessness warn of constipation.

California Fig Syrup helps tone and strengthen weak bowels—assists in building-up and energizing weak children. The genuine always bears the name California. All drugstores.

HONEST, bright young banker. That was Donald—until he saw Edith—dazzling as a sculptor's dream—secretary to his handsome, wealthy boss. Distant, cold as steel—to Don—in the office—but a quivering bundle of passion in his arms at night.

And then, that fateful Sunday in Santa Rita—alone—a room. Frantically he begged—but she refused—to marry him!

Came darts of doubt, groundless jealousy. He bought her clothes—finery—an expensive car—spending beyond his bank salary—sacrificing all—fighting to hold her intimate caresses against a phantom rival.

Then came that awful morning at the bank—dark, leering glances from his friends—looming crisis—Then! A voice from his boss's office. Driven to murder-madness, Don opened the door—grimly, he opened his Door to Destiny—

Which Opens Today

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—More than 400 proposed legislative measures were ready for the hopper of the general assembly when house and senate of the 129th Pennsylvania legislature convened here today for their organization session. John Fertig, acting director of the legislative reference bureau, announced. Bills already drafted and expected to make their appearance as soon as both chambers settle down to the grind of the session cover a variety of subjects, although many of those now awaiting the signal for introduction are appropriation measures. Drafted bills ready to be tossed include the election and third class cities codes, both of which are voluminous manuscripts, and the first and second class township codes which are expected to make an early appearance.

Other bills expected to show up early in the proceedings are those providing for abolition of "yellow dog" labor contracts and unemployment insurance, to be sponsored by Representatives Darlington Hoopes, Lillith M. Wilson, both Socialist members from Reading; repeal of direct inheritance taxes; liberalization of Sunday "blue laws"; old age pensions; limitation of coal and iron police, and many tax reduction measures.

Need Care To Avoid Accidents In Home

"A recent survey by one of the leading insurance companies elicited the rather astonishing fact that it was much safer for a person to be working in a factory than to be engaged in domestic duties. No less than 46 percent of the injuries caused by 22 visiting nurse associations in a metropolitan city arose out of domestic pursuits, and but nine percent happened while the leading person was at work. These figures are worthy of reflection," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, today.

"Among the domestic injuries nearly one-half were due to falls on or down stairs, over chairs, in bath tubs, slips on rugs, off the step ladder and to falls out of windows. From which it would appear that these types of home hazards deserve more consideration as a cause of disability than they have been receiving.

"Burns and scalds are next in importance as a cause of domestic injury. No less than 28 percent of home casualties during 1930 were directly traced to the stove, grate, lamp and match hazards.

"While undoubtedly spectacular progress has been made in industry, establishments against accidents by means of improved safety appliances, physical examinations and personal instruction, a concentrated and regulated effort along these lines regarding the home has as yet not been made. In fact, it is questionable whether it will ever come to pass. For obviously the individual, rather than officials, has the regulatory power, which of necessity must be of a highly personal nature. In the last analysis, the question resolves itself into one of attitude and self-discipline. Care is the great ally; carelessness the great foe.

"Plainly, no matter how solicitous health departments may be for the protection of the milk and water supplies, for the marketing of pure food and in general guarding the public against the mass health hazards, the success in such matters will amount to little to the person who, because of an inexcusable lack of caution, falls downstairs and breaks his neck.

"It follows that obeying the basic rules of health such as the annual physical examination, sufficient sleep, adequate rest, daily exercise and regulated food intake, while all very essential, will in themselves be quite unavailing if a careless attitude resulting in a physical calamity is allowed to exist.

"The habit of caution and reasonable care need not, and should not, assume the proportions of a complex, but it should studiously be developed until natural caution becomes automatic.

"Such a suggestion, if carried out, will not only save broken limbs, broken backs and broken hearts in the home, but will be a bulwark against the automobile hazard when one is abroad. To use a slang phrase, 'Have a care!' It is one of the secrets of a long and happy life."

BUSINESS CLUB HEARS CHILTON

Business and Professional Women Meet At Y. W. C. A.
On Monday Evening

Alfred W. Chilton of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce was the speaker at the evening at the meeting of the New Castle club of Business and Professional Women in the green room of the Y. W. C. A. on Monday evening.

Mr. Chilton in a brief address gave the outstanding facts about the proposed slack water navigation improvement in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers and just what local citizens and the officers and directors of the improvement association have been doing to secure this waterway.

Results have been obtained and the beginning of an epoch that will be of great advantage to the people of this city, is in sight, according to Mr. Chilton. It is one of the most vital problems of the city and will decide whether New Castle will or will not go ahead in progress.

Various steps taken by the local committee were outlined by the speaker. He said that the waterways would save between 30 to 50 million dollars a year to the people of this district. In conclusion he asked for the support of the New Castle business and professional women in this project.

Following the address, several announcements were made by the president of the organization, Miss Nancy Bechtol, and the meeting was adjourned.

Preceding the meeting, dinner was served to the members, with places set at several long tables attractively decorated with yellow candles and lavender streamers.

After dinner Miss Helen Hinkson led in a number of club songs. Miss Bechtol called the meeting to order and Miss Genevieve Riddle, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. Miss Naomi Raney, treasurer, gave her report.

Miss Ethel Hunt of the emblem committee announced that five emblem pins and one emblem ring had been sold since the last meeting.

Miss Etile Butz, chairman of the magazine and official organ committee, read a magazine questionnaire and the answers of the members were put on file to be sent to the magazine for their research work.

Miss Lucile Lutton of the finance committee reported that about $75 was made on the recent bake sale.

Miss Charlotte Emery of the transportation committee asked that the members plan to attend the state and national conventions that will be held this year at Stroudsburg and in Virginia.

Dr. Mildred Rogers of the membership committee announced that the next club initiation service would be held in February.

Of great interest to all members was the announcement made by the president regarding the annual banquet of the club, that will be held April 13. Miss Bechtol had received a letter from Miss Marjorie Lucy Baker of the international federation, informing that Miss Lena Madson Phillips, the international president of the Business and Professional Women's clubs, has accepted the invitation of the New Castle club and will be here to speak on the evening of April 13. Her subject will be "Russia".

Miss Genevieve Riddle made an announcement concerning associate membership to the international federation. Those who wish to have this membership should get in touch with Miss Alice Sterling.

To take charge of arrangements for the annual banquet in April, when the international president will be guest, Miss Bechtol appointed Miss Bess Gailey as general chairman.

Mrs. J. M. Butler, Miss Rosina McGurk, Mrs. Clara E. Balch and Mrs. Bertha Smith were appointed as the committee in charge of plans for National Business Woman's Week, March 8 to 14.

The program at the meeting last night was in charge of the finance committee, consisting of Misses Lucile Lutton, Jeannette Hutton, Adda Smiley, Jean Hilliard, Theresa Cover, Mabel H. Bolland and Agnes Wagner.

Reputed Father Of 19 Is Held

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 6.—Tony Angelo, 52, proprietor of an alleged bootlegging joint at Forestville, was jailed here today.

Angelo and his wife, 39, are parents of 19 children, it is said, and claim they took up bootlegging in order to support the family.

If you are entertaining a very small child in your childless home, try giving it the basket or bag of cloths to amuse it.

FOUND GREAT RELIEF

"Ten Herbs made a wonderful change in me," said Mr. William Brest, 208 N. Jefferson St., New Castle. "For over a year my stomach was disordered and indigestion caused gas and retching. I could not sleep because of nervousness. There were pains in my back and I had to arise often at night. I started to use Ten Herbs and now I can eat without indigestion, gas or retching. My liver is benefited and headaches have disappeared. My kidneys are improved, the pains have left my back and I sleep soundly at night. Ten Herbs deserves a strong endorsement from me. Ten Herbs is sold at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 E. Washington St., and by all leading druggists throughout this entire section.

WED IN VIRGINIA STATE MANSION

Herbert Lee Boatwright, Jr., Washington, D. Theirs was the first wedding performed in the mansion since 1890.

Bo Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—If some of the bandits who make life so interesting in New York would display, in honest endeavor, one-half the nerve and the ingenuity they crooked exploits, they could have the world, and everything that's in it, with no man to challenge them.

But their make-up is defective. They seem to be hampered by the fact that their cleverness and daring come to the fore only when they are engaged in some money pursuit.

And don't go with the idea that only among bandits is this the case. A number of business men operate under the same handicap.

STRANGE THINGS HAPPEN.

Someone started the rumor some months ago that "Beer's Comin' Back" and Tammany Town is taking it at its face value.

Maybe it is, and maybe it isn't. Judging the present by the past, I'd say offhand that the story wasn't true. But the Boys are hugging it, and won't let go. In the matter of dreams, they go on the principle that if Prohibition could happen, anything can happen.

In the meantime, your old college side-kick Jake Ruppert, whose moniker is not unfamiliar to Friends of the Evening Flag, rises to his full height, and calling the meeting to order, with a bang-starter, delivers himself as follows:

"I am positive that real beer will be allowed in the United States, just when I cannot say. The contents of the Wickersham report will have lots to do with that."

Allowing the manufacture of real beer will give work directly and indirectly to about 1,000,000 men.

Also, it will correspondingly add the prices of corn, rice, barley and hops, all of which are used in the manufacture of beer.

"From the angle of revenue to the Government, it should, assuming a fair tax of $3 a barrel, return to the Government about $150,000,000 the first year, which should increase to a probable $300,000,000 in a few years' time."

TAKING WAIL FROM WALL ST.

And who should come along just now, but Brother Newcomb Carlton, Head Man of the Western Union Telegraph Company, with a new-laid scheme of his own for bringing back Glory, where Gloom has pitched its tent.

"I suppose they'll accuse me of being a radical," says the Worthy Brother; but if dumping of employees keeps up, a lot of us executives will be looking for jobs ourselves."

From there he goes on to refer to the fact that "democracy is an experiment," and says that one of the greatest difficulties confronting us is the task of making speculation safe for democracy.

"It's all right to tell the small speculator after a stock market crash that he shouldn't have been in the market at all," says Carlton. "The real remedy is to make it more difficult for him to get in."

THE HEAD MAN TALKS.

Up to that point the Head Man of the Western Union talks sound sense. The trouble is he keeps on talking and, as always happens in similar circumstances, spills the beans.

"I'd suggest," he says, "moving the stock market to some place less accessible than Wall Street—Chicago, or better still, Kokomo, Ind. It might be all right to move the stock market to Kokomo, but you'd never freeze the little fellow out by doing that unless at the same time you closed up the telegraph and telephone systems."

A close study of an interview with a Head Man is always interesting.

RELIC OF GOLGOTHA.

An art dealer has placed in the hands of a New Yorker pawnbroker a reliquary containing what are declared to be pieces of the Crown of Thorns which the Roman soldiers pressed upon the head of Christ shortly before the Crucifixion. The dealer, an importer of objects of art, asserts proof of authenticity. The pawnbroker, who has nothing to say on that question, wishes it understood that he makes the information public by special permission from the dealer.

Will Be One Of Measures Seriously Considered By Congress This Term

Local World War Veterans have received copies of the remarks made by Congressman Fish of New York state, relative to a bill he has presented in Congress providing for immediate payments of one-fourth of their Adjusted Compensation.

Under the measure, the amount would be paid immediately and would not affect previous loans, or future payments. The measure has the endorsement of many organizations of veterans, as it would provide from $250 to $400 for the majority of veterans, and would put around a half-billion dollars in circulation.

Fire Invades Old Brewery Building

Small Loss Sustained In Former Kettle Room Of Sampson Street Structure

Fire caused by a large stove pipe leading through a second story floor brought slight damage Monday afternoon to the old Standard Brewery building of the New Castle Lumber and Construction company of Sampson street. Fire Chief Lynn estimated the damage loss to the building was about $15.

The pipe from a stove on the first floor pierced the second floor. The second floor was constructed with a composition of tar and wood cross members, according to a fire report. The fire was in a room that had formerly been a kettle room when the brewery was in operation. The fire was extinguished with the booster tank and chemicals.

Black evening gowns are replaced on the dance floor and in the casino at Agua Caliente, Mexico, this season, by vivid-colored evening gowns.

SOUTHERN EVENING GOWNS SIMPLE

Costumes for Palm Beach and the Riviera are largely divided into two groups—sports and evening clothes, according to Lucien Lelong, famed couturier. Evening gowns should be simple and young. Light lace gowns are appropriate. White, pale beige or flesh pink are all pretty in this medium. Elbow sleeves or elbow sleeved jackets are permissible. A little separate jacket in salmon pink entirely covered with pink crystal fringe, like a sea anemone, is one of his fancies, to be worn over white or ivory frocks. Two of Lelong's evening models for resort wear are sketched.

ASSESSORS FAIL TO GET IN ALL BOOKS FOR 1931

Valuations To Be About The Same As Formerly And Same Tax Millage
Likely

Although December 31 was the last day on which township, borough and city assessors, were to have had their tax duplicates delivered at the office of the county commissioners, eleven assessors have so far failed to make their returns.

None of the five wards of Ellwood City are yet in. Books of the second, fourth and eighth wards of this city, which is a very large ward, it is likely that the county commissioners will set the tax millage for this year, before all returns are made, as it will be possible to estimate very closely from the duplicates of last year, the amount of assessable property.

The triennial assessment for this year is not likely to be materially changed from last year. While it is admitted by assessors that owing to the depression, property will not sell for as much as when the last triennial assessment was made, it is believed that it will come back. At any rate, to have lowered the general assessments, they say, would simply mean an increase in the tax millage, as a certain amount of revenue is needed to run the business of the county.

As the assessments now stand it is said that the county commissioners are likely to continue the same millage as last year. The millage will probably be set sometime this month.

Collision Results In Damage Claim

John S. Walleit Files Suit Against The Fish Dry
Cleaning Company

John S. Walleit of Mount Lebanon, Allegheny county, has filed a suit at the probate judge's office against the Fish Dry Cleaning company of this city, in which he asks for $1844, damage to an automobile as the result of an accident.

Walleit claims that his son, John W. Walleit, was driving on the road leading from Hartstown to Conneaut Lake. He was following behind a truck about 100 feet ahead, and was going in a southerly direction. There was snow on the road, and it was piled up along the side, where it had been scraped off by road cleaning machines.

It is alleged that the truck of the dry cleaning company was being driven north at a high rate of speed estimated at 40 miles per hour, and when it passed the truck ran into the snow at the edge of the road and whirled around across the center of the road, where it collided with the Walleit car. It is claimed the accident was due to the reckless manner in which the dry cleaning truck was being operated.

Damage to the automobile is placed at $1200 and the balance of the amount asked is for loss of its use.

Test Treatment of My Greatest
Herbal Health Builder
Called NU-ERB

Emminent Specialist in Proprietary Medicine . . .

Offers Free Trial Treatment of Famous New Liquid Medicine

There are no strings to this offer. It is open to every weak, rundown man and woman in this vicinity. All have the same chance to get well. Nu-Erb has brought relief to thousands and what it has done for others it surely should do for you. Just cut out the coupon and bring it to Eckerd's Cut Rate Store. All I ask is that you come early before the limited supply is exhausted.

This Nu-Erb compound that I am telling you about is made entirely from good old herbs, roots and leaves, all as old as the hills on which they are found, and they are blended in a new effective way, so that thousands marvel at their wonderful curative effect.

The early theory of medicine was: for nervousness, give bromides; for weak kidneys, give diuretics; for weak stomach, give pepsin and bismuth. To deaden pain, give narcotics, and so on. Don't you see why that is all wrong? That is mere patchwork and while the suffering organ is enjoying temporary relief, the actual cause of the trouble may be getting worse and worse from day to day.

Nu-Erb goes right to the root of the trouble, strengthens the entire system, eliminates the cause and makes you well.

Nu-Erb acts on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. It drives rheumatism out shortly, puts a stop to bedsores and other blood afflictions and builds strong, healthy nerves.

That is why thousands who had tried everything they ever heard of, who had in many cases despaired of ever getting well, have been surprised and delighted with the wonderful results obtained from this great new herbal remedy.

Very Few Enjoy Perfect Health

There are very few persons anywhere who are in perfect health. There are thousands right in this vicinity who go around from day to day suffering from some form of ailment that continually makes them miserable.

Stop it at once! Now is the time for you to act. Don't wait until you are bedridden. It was never intended that you should hope around half sick all your life. You were provided with a good digestive system, with sound, healthy organs and strong nerves. If any one of the organs or nerves become weakened so that they are no longer functioning properly all the others suffer in consequence, you are not getting the best out of life and you are slowly being seeped of the most important thing in the world to you—your health.

Nu-Erb is successful because nature herself has supplied the way. The herbs, roots and leaves from which it is blended are gathered in many different parts of the world.

They are carefully selected and blended in a way that gives amazing results to the sufferer.

One Pennsylvania woman writes: "It is worth its weight in diamonds." Another writes: "I have used two bottles of Nu-Erb with gratifying results. I want you to mail me three more bottles. I shall never be without this wonderful medicine."

Mrs. Margaret Davis, 155 West 16th street, Erie, Pa., says: "My stomach trouble has disappeared. I can eat anything and am feeling better than in years."

"For 15 years I have suffered with rheumatism and kidney trouble," says Mr. B. M. Swartz, 1015 Lake Street, Elmira, N. Y., who was an engineer for the D. L. & W. Railway for 27 years. "But Nu-Erb drove the rheumatism out of my system and my kidneys are in first-rate shape again."

Hundreds of such letters are on our files. Nu-Erb almost talks for itself. A few minutes after you have used it you are feeling better—but you don't have to take my word for it. Bring the coupon to me at Eckerd's Cut Rate Store at once and receive the trial treatment and you will surely be convinced that all I say is true.

50. George Rogers Clark—Clark's Enemies At Work

BY ATTAINING FAME FOR HIS EXPLOITS, CLARK EARNED THE HATRED OF CERTAIN MILITARY RIVALS AND POLITICIANS WHO SOUGHT TO DESTROY HIS PRESTIGE IN ORDER TO ADVANCE THEMSELVES. THESE WORTHIES CIRCULATED REPORTS ACCUSING CLARK OF DRUNKENNESS, INEFFICIENCY AND NEGLECT.

THESE MALICIOUS TALES WERE CARRIED TO VIRGINIA AND REACHED BENJAMIN HARRISON, WHO WAS THEN GOVERNOR. THE CHARGES AGAINST CLARK FOUND CREDENCE IN MANY QUARTERS, AND THE BLAME FOR A NUMBER OF MINOR DISASTERS WAS LAID AT HIS DOOR.

MEANWHILE, THE TARGET OF THIS "WHISPERING" CAMPAIGN WAS DOING THINGS IN THE WEST WHICH COULD HARDLY BE ACHIEVED BY A DRUNKARD OR AN INCOMPETENT. WITH ONLY A HANDFUL OF MEN, INADEQUATELY SUPPLIED AND ALMOST WITHOUT FUNDS, CLARK WAS SUCCESSFULLY DEFENDING A FRONTIER 1000 MILES LONG.

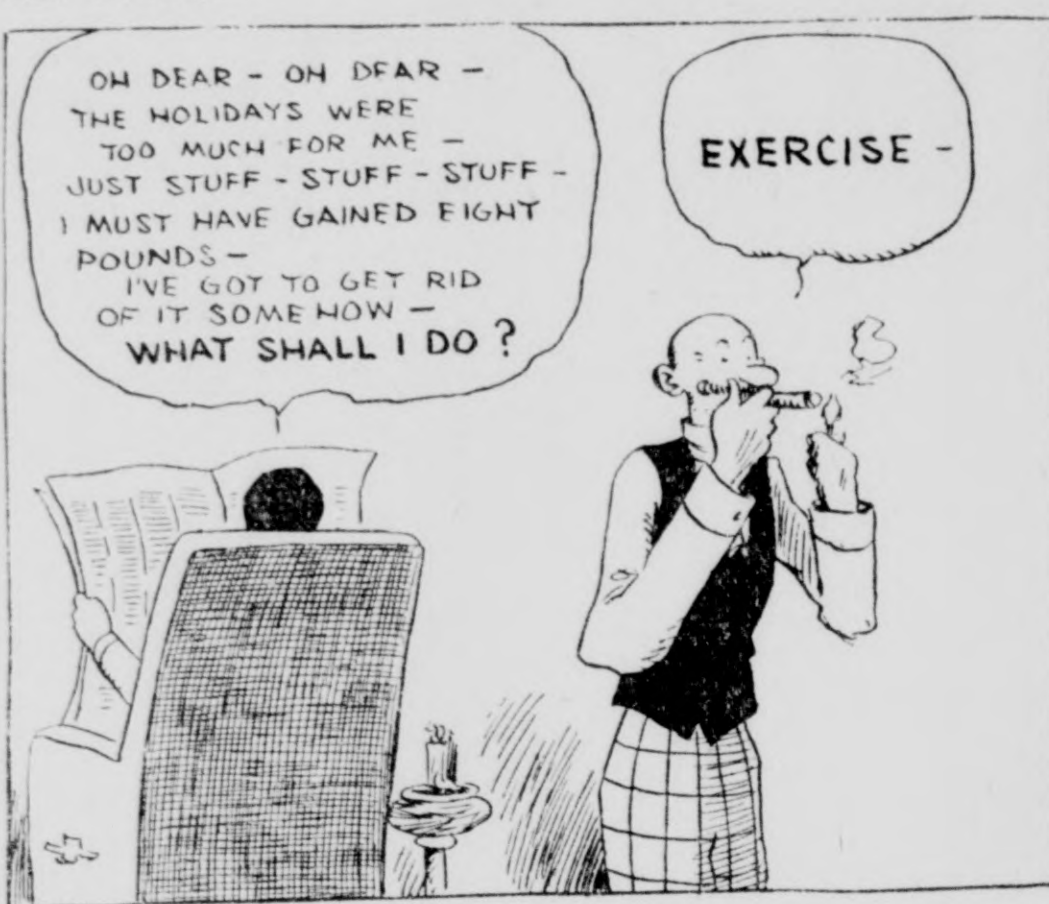

ANGERED BY SEVERAL SHARP LETTERS FROM THE GOVERNOR AND LEARNING FOR THE FIRST TIME OF THE CHARGES AGAINST HIM, CLARK DEMANDED AN INQUIRY. A STAFF OFFICER, SENT TO OBSERVE THE YOUNG GENERAL, FOUND NOTHING TO JUSTIFY THE SLURRING REPORTS.

Grovers Favored Over Titans In Opening Contest Tonight

Injuries, Inexperience Likely To Cost Westminster Victory

Falcon Juniors Defeat Yankees

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 6.—With Grove City favored to defeat Westminster tonight in the opening college basketball game for both of the old rivals, Coach "Pops" Harrison of the Titans has impressed upon the members of the squad the necessity of holding the Crimson passers to as low a score as possible.

With three forwards out as a result of sickness and injury, and with but few men of experience available, Harrison believes that the Titans will be on the defense most of the time, so has been drilling the men defensively. His style of defense is somewhat different from that used by Westminster last year. The offense is much the same, but Harrison does not think his team will have much chance to be on the offense.

In all probability, Captain Rice and either Fisher or Blane will start at guard; Brownlee or Arthur at center; and Silander and Douglas at forward. This will leave Koehner, the only other forward, in reserve. Bill Williams, Sharon, is apt to get a chance to start the center position, Harrison indicated, although it is more likely that he will replace Brownlee or Arthur after the game is under way.

For three years the pre-season enthusiasm has been equally divided on the opening game between the two rivals, with the contest considered a natural. This year, however, because of experience, the Grovers are given the edge.

Seek To Secure Water Supply On Sheep Hill

An unusual condition which prevails outside of the city limits at Sheep Hill at the present time, the first in 30 or more years, is the shortage of water in that district. A total of 25 or more wells have gone dry and the citizens of that district are compelled to haul water in their homes in different ways.

The condition was caused by the drought and freezing weather. The shortage of water was noticed last week when the citizens could not secure any water from their wells which had provided water in that district for a number of years.

The residents of that section of the town can be seen at different times hauling water supply into their homes by different means.

Some fill barrels and haul the water home. Others are seen with five gallon bottles, boilers, and other vessels. The Sheep Hill citizens believe that the light rain which has hit New Castle during the past two days may aid the condition and restore the water.

Some who have not used city water are forced to at the present time. The water which is carried in different vessels is secured on a "boring" scheme. The citizens who live within the city limits provide the water for those living outside of the limits.

On Monday afternoon Charles Frongel, a resident of that district for a number of years was getting a petition signed by the residents of that district and an attempt will be made to present the petition to the New Castle Water Company in the hope that city water can be secured for Sheep Hill.

Just how long the wells will be dry is not known but the inhabitants of that district are going to make an attempt to play safe by trying to get city water there.

Youngstown Puts All Police Back

Mayor Rescinds His Order On Promise Of Legislative Relief

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 6.—Like the king of France's men, who marched up a hill and then marched down again, Youngstown's police and fire forces marched off the job and then came back again.

Mayor Joseph L. Heffernan last week ordered the police and firemen on half time, effective Monday morning, as an emergency economy measure to help overcome the city's $1,000,000 deficit for 1931.

Six fire stations were closed and the police force re-organized so that seven patrolmen were the maximum number on duty at any one time to police a city of 170,000.

Gets Promise of Relief
A few hours after the order became effective, Mayor Heffernan rescinded it, on receipts of assurance from Mahoning County representatives in the State Legislature that they would champion a bill providing relief for distressed cities and other sub-divisions.

Under the proposed bill, which would permit subdivision to issue deficiency bonds to the amount to delinquent taxes, providing the bonding limit had not already been reached, Youngstown expects to issue about $300,000 worth of bonds to help meet operating expenses.

City Will Save $400,000
At the same time the city will take an "improvement holiday" foregoing the issuance of $400,000 in general improvement bonds, which could be issued this year.

Budget reductions of about $700,000 already have been made, which with the expected $300,000 bonds will meet the $1,000,000 deficit.

Mahoning County and the Youngstown school district, however, have no solution of their problem in sight facing heavy deficit. Neither can issue bonds under the proposed plan, as they already are bonded to the limit.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Narrow Price Range Features Stock Market

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—In the absence of outside buying demand, or of special incentive from financial and industrial sources, all sections of the stock market moved sluggishly through a narrow price range this morning. Transactions fell under 200,000 shares in the first half hour, and trading was confined to a comparatively small number of Industrial, Utility and Specialty favorites. Prices slumped off at the opening, rallied near the end of the first hour, and reacted in the second hour.

No attempt was made to boost the Automobile stocks on the strength of the good reports coming out of the Motor show. Goodyear was again under pressure and dropped off 3 1/2 points to 40 on reports of further prices. Goodrich sold off about a point at 15 1/2. General Motors, Stude-

Mission Coin Banks Net $700 Sum So Far

With 700 coin banks averaging $1 each already collected, authorized representatives of the City Rescue Mission went ahead today with the solicitation of the 2,300 remaining cans that were placed in homes, schools and public institutions about the middle of October. Receipts so far approximate $700.

Proceeds from the collection will be applied to the Mission's maintenance fund, while considerable will be expended for clothing and food for needy families.

As representatives bring the cans to the Mission headquarters they are immediately opened, the amount recorded and the funds deposited in the bank. Each representative soliciting cans carries a letter for credentials.

The 5,000 cans donated to the Mission for the money drive were made by the local plant of the American Can company. No cost whatever was charged the Mission. Over 3,000 were being distributed now.

Superintendent B. J. Watkins announced today that the Mission will provide banks immediately for anyone desiring to contribute their bit.

By WILLIAM B. BROWN

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—A quiet, more or less routine session was on the slate today for the 129th Pennsylvania General Assembly, meeting at noon to organize after the party caucuses last night.

Meeting separately, senate and house were to swear in new members, then proceed to organization of the chambers on the basis of selections made in the party gatherings. This organization included installation of Senator Augustus F. Daix, Jr., as President Pro Tem in the senate, and Representative C. Jay Goodnough, Cameron, as speaker of the house.

As soon as the organization is out of the way, the houses will meet in joint session of the house of representatives for Governor John S. Fisher's final message.

Both chambers will then adjourn until January 19, the day preceding inauguration of Governor-elect Gifford Pinchot.

Galleries of both chambers were expected to be crowded with relatives and friends of new members. There was even an "inauguration parade" slated in honor of Senator Joseph C. Trainer, Philadelphia, a new member of the upper chamber. Some 800 of Trainer's friends and constituents arrived here today, led by Magistrate Thomas A. Conner and accompanied by the Firko String Band, first prize winners in their division in the Philadelphia New Year's mummery parade.

The contingent was to parade from the Pennsylvania station to the Capitol, to witness swearing in of Trainer.

Nine new senators were present in the upper chamber to take the oath of office in their first legislative session. They were: Joseph G. Arm-

Officer Wounded, Beaver Man Then Commits Suicide

Robert Fielding, 74, Resists
Arrest With Bullets,
Kills Self

HAD THREATENED
CONSTABLE HARM

(International News Service)
BEAVER, Pa., Jan. 6.—Because of his oft-repeated threat that "next time" he would shoot to kill, Robert Fielding, 74-year-old former British trooper and twice-convicted boot-legger, lay dead of a self-inflicted bullet wound today while Charles Wyke, 52, South Heights constable, was fighting for life in the Valley hospital at Sewickley, the result of a second attempt by Wyke to take Fielding into custody for alleged liquor law violations.

Once before Wyke had arrested Fielding for infractions of the prohibition law. Fielding was convicted twice on liquor charges and had issued an ultimatum that the next day would be resisted with bullets. Yesterday Wyke decided to raid again. He refused the proffered aid of Beaver county detectives and took along only his deputy, John Haggerty.

Pleads in Vain
Fielding was on the back porch when the officers arrived. His wife, alarmed because of her husband's threats, met the raiders and pleaded with them to leave. Wyke reiterated his intention of carrying out the raid.

The porch door was suddenly thrown open and Fielding appeared with an automatic pistol in his hand. Wyke had half-turned as the door was flung open and Fielding fired twice in rapid succession. One bullet crumpled Wyke to the porch floor. The other ploughed harmlessly through Haggerty's clothing. Fielding then raised the gun to his temple and fired a third shot. He died instantly.

Wyke was rushed to the hospital where surgeons said the bullet had coursed through his back and had come to rest in his abdomen. An operation will be necessary to remove the bullet.

The wounded officer's condition is considered critical.

Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say."

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C., Jan. 1930. "P. S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Ecker's & Co., New Castle, Inc., and druggists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

(International News Service)
AMBRIDGE, Pa., Jan. 6.—Climaxing an unemployment demonstration in this Beaver county city yesterday in which a crowd estimated at more than 5,000 persons participated, three men and a woman were held by police here today while an investigation was begun to fix the responsibility for the demonstration.

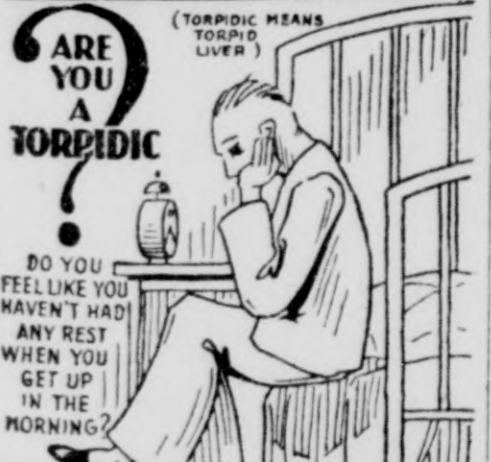

Police refused to divulge the identity of those arrested. They were taken into custody when, police said, disparaging remarks against President Hoover and the Federal Government were uttered.

No advance warning of the demonstration was made. The throng marched through the streets, gathering recruits along the line of march, and came to a halt at the municipal building.

Samuel, Gard, borough clerk, was served with a demand by one of the marchers who asked for $10 weekly for every unemployed man and $3 for each dependent. In addition, the petition asked free rent, light, heat and water.

The communication was formally read at the regular session of the council and then ordered filed, police said.
